Part-time Lab Manager Position, March 1

Recruiting Lab Manager for the Social and Moral Judgment Lab

We are currently recruiting a part-time Lab Manager for Professor Juliana Schroeder's Social and Moral Judgment Lab. Schroeder is a professor of psychology and organizational behavior in the UC Berkeley Haas School of Business. This position would start as early as May 2023 or later in the summer. It would be about 5-12 hours/week. This is a 1-2 year commitment and the work hours are flexible. Most of the work is remote, but you may be required to come to Haas once a week for in-person meetings. You will be compensated with a $500 stipend per month.

We are looking for individuals with research experience (preferably social psychology or organizational behavior research). While not required, we prefer individuals who have some familiarity with the following platforms/systems: SONA, Qualtrics, Prolific, CloudResearch, and eprotocol (IRB approval). If you are considering completing an honors thesis related to Professor Schroeder's research interest, there may be opportunities for you to pursue an independent research project with Professor Schroeder's guidance as well.

If you are interested in this position, please email your CV and transcript to me at kwan.l@berkeley.edu by March 1st, 2023. Thank you very much.

Destination College Advising Fellowship Open, March 17

DCAC Program Information

The DCAC College Adviser Fellowship is a paid, full-time, 10-month position requiring a two-year commitment. Following the College Advising Corps (CAC) near-peer model, advisers are recent college graduates who have graduated within the last two years. College advisers undergo five weeks of full-time paid training and then begin working at their assigned high school or community-based organization in Alameda, Contra Costa, or Santa Clara County. College advisers receive continuous individual support and specialized training throughout the year, including extensive college advising training, graduate school, and career support. After two years of service, many of our adviser alumni pursue graduate school or careers as school counselors, higher education advisers, educational policymakers, and other social service positions

Undergrad Student Job Opportunity

VELLA is a new mental health and wellness app that leverages innovative technology to help users to better understand their personality and access custom tips and recommendations that promote general well-being. We are looking for creative writers to help us compose and create content for the app in the form of goals, recommendations, insights, and tips, as well as create content on behalf of our featured partners that include celebrities, pro athletes, influencers, and therapists. This is a unique position to leverage your writing skills and your background in psychology in an environment that will also give you hands-on experience working for a tech startup in a burgeoning industry.

Work Opportunities – Week of February 27th, 2023

Candidates must have strong writing and communication skills and must be able to demonstrate flexibility in a dynamic work environment. Furthermore, familiarity with both the Big Five personality traits and general psychological principles are a strong prerequisite.

If you are interested in joining our team, please email our Head of Operations, Marcus Osti, at marcus@spr-data.com.

Clinical Research Coordinator Position at the Nathan Kline Institute

The Clinical Research Department at the Nathan Kline Institute for Psychiatric Research (NKI) in Orangeburg, NY invites applications for a Research Assistant position. Our research involves clinical trials and investigations into the neurobiology of psychiatric disorders including schizophrenia, neurocognitive disorders, and mood disorders. The RA will work on an experienced multi-disciplinary team of psychiatrists, psychologists, social workers, and research nurses. They will coordinate studies on schizophrenia and cognitive impairment, and depression, under the supervision of Drs. Dan Iosifescu and Matthew Hoptman. This is an excellent opportunity for obtaining research and clinical experience prior to applying for graduate or medical school. NKI fosters a collaborative environment where research assistants have the opportunity to gain excellent clinical and research experience, with the potential for publication.

Job Duties:

- Coordinating clinical trials and/or imaging studies in Schizophrenia, Mild Cognitive Impairment, and Major Depressive Disorder
- Conducting community outreach, recruitment, and screening, and documenting the informed consent process
- Managing day to day activities of the study including scheduling, problem solving, communication and protocol adherence
- Conducting clinical interviews and administering self-report scales
- Performing medical tasks such as measuring vital signs, drawing blood, and administering EKGs
- Conducting neuropsychological testing with participants with memory impairment
- Schedule, prepare for, and assist with fMRI scanning
- Data management including data entry, reviewing data for completeness and accuracy
- Preparing progress and other reports for sponsors and other quality assurance/ethics oversight

Work Opportunities – Week of February 27th, 2023

- Assisting in the preparation of grant proposals, manuscripts, other professional presentations
- Assisting in preparation and maintaining regulatory documents and IRB submissions
- Other technical and administrative support activities may be assigned

Job Qualifications:

- BS/BA in psychology or related field
- Two-year commitment required
- Prior research experience required
- Reliable transportation required
- Excellent organizational skills and attention to details
- Clinical and/or research experience with psychiatric or medical populations is preferred
- Willing to complete a phlebotomy certification course and perform blood-draws
- Excellent communication and interpersonal skills
- Comfort in interacting with adult research participants
- Ability to work independently following initial instruction
- Ability to work on a multi-disciplinary team

This position would begin in the Summer of 2023. The salary for this position is $41,200 and includes benefits. We encourage all historically underrepresented groups in STEM to apply!

If you are interested, please send a CV/resume and cover letter to Kathryn Evans at kathryn.evans@Nki.rfmh.org. Applications will be reviewed on a rolling basis.
