Table of Contents
UC Berkeley Psychology PhD Admissions Information Sessions 2
Knight-Hennessy Scholars Program (2024–2025 cohort) 2
Schwarzman Scholars Program (2024–2025 cohort) 3
UNC-Chapel Hill’s Diversifying Psychology Weekend 3
Applications Now Open for the Internship Prep & Connect Pilot Program, July 31 4
2024 positions at McKinsey, Bain, KKR, Final Destination Survey, and more! 5
“Choosing a Major” at UC Berkeley 6
Social Impact & Education CareerMail 7
USC Narrative Medicine: Accepting Applications 7
Ph.D. in Behavioral & Community Sciences Program 8
UC Berkeley Psychology PhD Admissions Information Sessions

Are you thinking about applying for the Psychology PhD program here at Cal? Not sure if this is the right degree or program for you? Or maybe you're sure, but you want to know how to make sure you're a successful candidate? Come join us for one or more information sessions! Each session is geared a little differently so be sure to read the descriptions carefully.

July 18 5-5:30pm UC Berkeley Psychology PhD Program Overview

This information session will give a high level overview of our program. As you think about applying to graduate school, this session is designed to help you answer the question, "Is UC Berkeley's Psychology PhD program right for me and should I apply this year?"

Join here: https://berkeley.zoom.us/j/95873400546

August 31 5-5:30pm UC Berkeley Psychology PhD Admissions Process

This information session will give a high level overview of the application and admissions process for our program. As you plan to apply to graduate school, this session is designed to help you answer the question, "Am I ready to apply to the UC Berkeley Psychology PhD program this year?"

Join here: https://berkeley.zoom.us/j/96782175221

September 27 12-12:30pm UC Berkeley Psychology PhD Application Process

This information session will give more details on how to apply to our program in the upcoming cycle. This session is designed to help you answer the question, "How can I be sure my application is received on time and read?"

Join here: https://berkeley.zoom.us/j/96343329672

For questions or additional information, please visit our Admissions website and/or email psychgradadmissions@berkeley.edu.

Knight-Hennessy Scholars Program (2024–2025 cohort)

Application deadline: October 11, 2023

The Knight-Hennessy Scholars Program is designed to build a multidisciplinary community of Stanford graduate students. The program—which covers tuition, fees, living expenses for three years of graduate study—annually identifies a group of 100 high-achieving students from around the world with demonstrated leadership and civic commitment. Knight-Hennessy Scholars develop both the depth and range of subject expertise to confront the numerous grand challenges and opportunities of the future. This is a diverse community of change agents that will support you, motivate you, and hold you accountable for achieving your goals, even when the odds of success seem likely against you. For more information, please visit: https://scholarships.berkeley.edu/knight-hennessy.

Schwarzman Scholars Program (2024–2025 cohort)

Application deadline: September 19, 2023
The Schwarzman Scholars experience is anchored in a rigorous, innovative and fully-funded one-year Master of Global Affairs degree program at Tsinghua University in Beijing, one of China's leading universities. The curriculum bridges the academic and professional worlds to educate students about leadership and about China's expanding role in the world. The program also provides Scholars with learning opportunities with leaders from China and the world through high-level interactions at lectures, an internship program, a mentor network, and intensive deep-dive travel seminars. For more information, please visit: https://scholarships.berkeley.edu/schwarzman.

UNC-Chapel Hill’s Diversifying Psychology Weekend

October 27 (Friday) – October 28 (Saturday), 2023
The UNC Diversifying Psychology Weekend (DPW) is an opportunity for talented ethnic/racial minority undergraduates and recent college graduates interested in pursuing doctoral level training in psychology and neuroscience. While we encourage all applicants, this program would be most beneficial for those who are planning to apply to graduate school in the near future. This year’s virtual program includes two days of seminars, panel discussions, and workshops. Students will learn how to develop a competitive application for graduate school, receive individual feedback, and meet with doctoral students and faculty from our department in formal and informal settings. This year’s DPW will provide students the opportunity to explore the six graduate programs in our Psychology & Neuroscience department at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill: Clinical, Cognitive, Developmental, Quantitative, and Social Psychology, and Behavioral and Integrative Neuroscience. Application deadline: August 21, 2023. Letters of recommendation and transcripts will be accepted up to one week after the application deadline (until August 27, 2023).

For more information and to access the application, please click here: https://tarheels.live/uncdpw/
If you are eligible and interested, we encourage you to apply!

Applications Now Open for the Internship Prep & Connect Pilot Program, July 31

The Cal Career Center is piloting an exciting new equity-oriented program in the fall that we’d like you to share with your students. The program is aptly named, “Internship Prep & Connect” as it aims to prepare undergraduate students to work in an internship by boosting their Career Readiness and connecting them with employers that offer internship opportunities. The program consists of five robust modules that address aspects of Career Readiness as defined by the National Association of Colleges and Employers (NACE). Upon completion of the program, students will receive a certificate of completion and attend an exclusive networking event. Please encourage your students to APPLY NOW. Details are provided below and any questions can be directed to me. Thank you!

Cohort Size: 20 max
Duration: 10 weeks
Frequency: 1-2 hours bi-weekly, every other Tuesday.

Key Dates:
Miscellaneous Opportunities: Week of June 19, 2023

- First day: Tuesday, Sept. 12
- Last day: Tuesday, Nov. 7
- Final projects due: Tuesday, Nov. 14
- Culminating event: Thursday, Nov. 16, 5pm - 7pm
- Certificates issued: Tuesday, Nov. 21

Module Dates:
1. Module-1, Sep. 12
2. Module-2, Sep. 26
3. Module-3, Oct. 10
5. Module-5, Nov. 7
6. Networking event, Nov. 16

Eligibility: 2nd and 3rd year status, enrolled for Fall-23 semester and in good standing (preference given to A&H or So-Sci major and under-served students with high need.)

Application Dates
- Application Opens May 1
- Application Closes July 31

2024 positions at McKinsey, Bain, KKR, Final Destination Survey, and more!

[Employer Info Sessions]

BCG Launch
Thursday, June 1st 2023 to Monday, July 31st, 2023

[Click HERE to see all upcoming employer events]

2024 Associate Consultant Intern at Bain & Company
Application deadline: June 25, 2023

Business Operations Intern, Home Charging at Tesla
Application deadline: June 30, 2023
2024 Business Analyst (BA) at McKinsey & Company
Application deadline: July 14, 2023

Click HERE to see ALL jobs and internships in Handshake

[Career Center News]

What’s Next, Golden Bears?
Congratulations, upcoming graduates! The Career Center would like to know where you're headed next. We invite you to spend a few minutes completing the First Destination Survey. This brief survey will take no more than 5 minutes and could make a difference to peers who follow you. Be assured your answers will remain confidential. If you're still finalizing your plans, complete it now – you can return to it again once your plans settle. As an alum, you also continue to have access to Handshake for a full 5 years after graduation – we hope you’ll take advantage of that as you need it.

Click HERE to take the survey!

[Jobs/Internships on Handshake]

Business Development Representative (Austin, TX) at Oracle
Application deadline: July 14, 2023

Business Analyst (BA) at McKinsey & Company
Application deadline: July 14, 2023

Click HERE to see ALL jobs and internships in Handshake

“Choosing a Major” at UC Berkeley

A group of emeriti (Amy Block Joy, Nutritional Sciences; Ruth Tringham, Anthropology; and Tom Havens, History) is working with six students on a URAP-Project titled: "Choosing My Major". We are collecting survey data from undergraduates about their decision-making process on choosing a major. The confidential and anonymous survey takes about 5 minutes to complete.

Survey link: https://berkeley.qualtrics.com/jfe/form/SV_a2TFugfpY9P7CpU
Social Impact & Education CareerMail

Volunteer with the Oakland Public Education Fund!

Application deadline: Rolling
Get matched with a classroom or individual student to support high-quality learning once a week or more. Support a class with different activities, including working with a small group, tutoring, material prep, organization, and more!

USC Narrative Medicine: Accepting Applications

Narrative Medicine aims to put stories at the forefront of medicine.

The Narrative Medicine program at USC is highly interdisciplinary and teaches students to use tools from other disciplines (literary studies, creative writing, philosophy, anthropology, and sociology) as a means of strengthening and reshaping the ways institutions and individuals understand the relationship between clinical medicine, public health, and social justice.

Our outstanding faculty will mentor and challenge you as you prepare to apply what you learn in the classroom to experiences with our clinical and community partners. Not only will you complete a witnessing project in one of the clinical locations at Keck or with the chaplaincy program at Children’s Hospital LA, but you will develop interviewing techniques as part of our qualitative research methods course or in the narrative ethics elective. The skills you develop in these courses will help you facilitate narrative medicine workshops at our community sites.

In addition to these valuable in-person experiences, you will be invited to events offered by the Humanities, Ethics, Art, and Law (HEAL) Program at KSOM, including lectures and small group gatherings with best-selling authors, world-renowned physician-scholars, and community activists. Please see the HEAL website and the Visions and Voices website for descriptions of past and upcoming events. You will also have the option of taking elective courses from scholars in departments across USC, as we are committed to providing interdisciplinary training to our students that support their personal and professional goals.

For more information about our program, please join us for an online informational session.
Ph.D. in Behavioral & Community Sciences Program

In 2017, we launched a new doctoral program in Behavioral & Community Sciences at the University of South Florida. We are proud to announce that as of this Fall we will have enrolled 49 highly qualified students and we will have graduated 13 with 7 more graduating by the end of the year. We hope your students will be among those who join our 2024 cohort. The program has an interdisciplinary focus, caters to students with clear research interests and lofty career goals, and provides guided experiences that result in tangible products such as professional presentations, scholarly publications, and grant proposals.

Because we have several faculty with expertise in behavioral health, the program may be of particular interest to students who wish to pursue research careers in mental health, substance abuse, developmental disabilities, among others areas. Information about our faculty members can be found here: http://www.usf.edu/cbcs/graduate/bcs-faculty-research.aspx. PhD programs involve huge commitments for students and for faculty. Efforts to ensure a good match between students and faculty advisors begin early in the application process. Students should reach out directly to at least two potential advisors with whom they would be interested in working. This allows students to share their interests and explore how that focus aligns with the potential advisors’ research. Thus, in their statement of intent, applicants should convey information about their discussions with a potential advisor(s) as well as information about how their research interests and career goals would align with our program.

Additional information is available on our website for deadlines, application requirements, etc. at: http://www.usf.edu/cbcs/graduate/bcs.aspx. We begin reviewing applications in December.