Work Opportunities – Week of July 2, 2018

Fall 2018 PAID Positions (Data-X) - Grad & Undergrad Students

Openings for students to join the Data-X Lab at the Sutadja Center for Entrepreneurship & Technology (SCET) for AI, Blockchain, and Data Projects. SCET is offering 5-7 student openings to join the lab's community starting this spring and others to work in the fall and beyond:

* 2 GSI roles for IEOR 135 / 290 (salary + fee remission)
* 3 technical lead positions (paid)
* 2 market/growth hacking positions (paid)
* 2 self-directed undergrad research students (unpaid)

The Data-X Lab at SCET supports a collection of student and faculty-led projects in AI/Data and Blockchain areas. Over the past year, the data and blockchain sub-lab areas have attracted over $200K in support for experiential teaching and applied research projects. Current projects from the lab include open source development code for the popular Data-X course and sponsored projects from firms including LinkQuest, Neo, and Echolink.

More info here: https://scet.berkeley.edu/data-lab/

The Data-X lab follows the Innovation Collider model of the Sutardja Center, where the work produced is more than research papers, and often includes diverse team formation with people who don’t often meet, such as Venture Capitalists, industry leaders, researchers, and undergraduate students.

If interested, please send a statement of interest, 1-2 paragraphs in length, along with your resume to Prof. Ikhlaq Sidhu, Cc: Melissa Glass (sidhu@berkeley.edu, m.glass@berkeley.edu). In the Subject line and title of your statement, please indicate which position you are applying for.

IEOR 135/290 GSI: We have 2 openings for graduate students GSI's for the Applied Data Science with Venture Applications course (informally Data-X). Applicant/s should be familiar with current data science tools such as pandas, NLTK, Scikit, TensorFlow/Keras, Beautiful Soup for web scraping, and comfort with data, AI, and related application development topics. This is a paid position.

Data-X Lab Technical Leads (3 openings as technical staff): These openings are for students who already have knowledge of data, AI, and/or blockchain implementation. These students would be interested in developing new notebooks, lecture content, presenting materials, teaching, and potential travel as experts to global companies and academic locations. They may also participate in applied research projects for companies such as our newest project in automated mobile “network configuration”, which may also result in a venture opportunity. Having already taken the Data-X course is a plus, but not required. These projects are also designed to lead to significant career opportunities for technical undergraduates and graduate students. This is a paid position.
Data-X Lab Market Experts (2 openings in growth staff): These 2 openings are for marketing and product management oriented students to work with firms and universities to launch new projects in Data, AI, and Blockchain. These students will focus on “growth hacking” techniques to develop the projects of the Data-X lab. Student work in this area will include creation and testing of market messages & materials; awareness and lead generation with firms and universities for collaboration opportunities in the Data-X area; and program and project delivery to end customers off the Lab. All Data-X Lab Market Experts are key roles and will be filled carefully. These roles will allow for many interactions with business and technical leaders and can lead to significant career opportunities. This is a paid position. We will additionally accept applications for 2 non-paid students who would like to contribute to one of our current projects as part of our applied research community. If interested, please send a statement of interest, 1-2 paragraphs in length, along with your resume to Prof. Ikhlaq Sidhu, Cc: Melissa Glass (sidhu@berkeley.edu, m.glass@berkeley.edu). In the Subject line and title of your statement, please indicate which position you are applying for.

Clinical Research Job Opportunity

CLINICAL RESEARCH OPPORTUNITY

The Risk-Resilience Lab at UC Berkeley is looking for an interviewer who would work 20+ hours/week in San Francisco. We need someone who lives in the area, has good availability during business hours, is willing/able to conduct assessments in the community (with access to reliable transportation), and has excellent interpersonal and organizational skills. Ideally, this person would have experience or background in related research in mental health and/or criminal justice. The salary is $18-21/hour, commensurate with experience. The position is for one year, but expected to extend for up to two years.

This interviewer will work with a top-notch research team to collect data on a promising treatment program for people with mental illness who are involved in the criminal justice system. The study will rigorously test whether and how Interventions, a cognitive-behavioral group treatment (CBT), reduces recidivism for this population. The Research Interviewer will recruit participants, assist with randomization, and perform assessments (pre-treatment and post-treatment). Major responsibilities also include staying in good contact with the study team and tracking down participants in the community to obtain follow-up data. Study results will be shared both locally and nationally to inform policy for justice involved people with mental illness. Please contact Sharon Farrell for details: smfarrell@berkeley.edu

➢ PIRG Campus Action-Campus Organizer

PIRG Campus Action is currently hiring Campus Organizers to work with students on college campuses across the country, giving them the resources they need to unlock their full power to build a brighter future.
We know college students have the power to make a difference. From voter registration drives to fossil fuel divestment, students are always pushing our communities, our country and our world forward. Interested candidates can find out more and apply here.

Campuses have long been places brimming with ideas about how to create a better society, stemming from the energy and idealism of their students, and the knowledge and creativity of their educators. College campus are places that foster the resources, and facilitate the ideas that can improve society. PIRG Campus Action believes that when these resources are used right, ideas that begin on campuses can quickly spread throughout our society and influence it for the better.

PIRG Campus Action is hiring campus organizers to work with students on college campuses across the country, giving them the resources they need to unlock their potential to spread change across our nation.

Campus organizers work with students who believe it’s their right and responsibility to shape the future we all want. Organizers will help student activists decide the strategies and tactics used to run a campaign. They act as a trainer, an inspirer, a full-on changemaker and a behind-the-scenes support system. Organizers provide students with the resources they need to unlock their full power to build a brighter future.

Do you know any University of California Berkeley students or alumni who are ready to make a difference on college campuses? Please pass along this information and encourage them to apply.

➢ Startup job opportunity in the Mission for recent grads

Hey there! I graduated from Cal last year in the Anthro department and landed in a customer support role for a startup called Notion – here's our product if you want to check it out, anyone can use it – https://notion.so.

At Notion, we're rethinking the way people use technology for content creation by building a tool that follows the way people think about their own workflows – not by forcing them to fit to an inflexible and unintuitive mold (pretty glad I don't have to track my classes in bSpace anymore, guys).

We want to bring on other new grads to join our customer support team – we need people who are good communicators, inventive problem solvers, and clear/conversational writers.

The role involves helping users by answering product-related questions, running the company Twitter and herding the community (you gotta be witty!), working closely with designers and engineers to define user needs, translating user feedback into the product roadmap, and running UX studies with beta features, writing product guides and marketing materials, etc.

Notion is still a small startup (I was employee 7 and now we're hiring for employee 10), scaling across the board. We all work hard and are passionate about that work - we're still at an early enough stage that each person really participates and helps direct the company culture and structure.
Work Opportunities – Week of July 2, 2018

Perks include free company lunch + trips, a beautiful dog friendly office in the Mission, competitive vesting and salary, plus the basic benefits you'll find at other similar positions. We're currently hiring for full time and on-site positions, so no remote or part time employees at the moment.

Here is our careers page with more info. Further, here's recent news coverage about us, our Twitter feed, and our ongoing project about the engineers, inventors, and designers who shaped computing today (love the intersection of tech + humanities!).
Feel free to message me here or email me at ashlee@makenotion.com with any questions. If you'd like to send interest directly, you can email it to join-us@makenotion.com
