Symposium for Undergraduate Research at UCSC (SURU)
SURU (the Symposium for Undergraduate Research at UCSC) offers students the opportunity to speak about their research, or research that they are interested in, while in a formal and friendly setting. This is a free event, available to the public. The 5th annual SURU symposium is scheduled for December 5, 2020 in an online format.
The deadline to apply to be a poster session presenter and an oral presenter is November 8th. All information and forms are on the website: http://tinyurl.com/ucsc-suru

The START team is also hosting a research presenting workshop on November 18th and 19th at 5 pm. To register for this workshop, please go to our website, where you will find an RSPV form.

D-Lab Workshops, Fall 2020

Tableau Bootcamp

Nov 17 | 12:00 PM to 5:00 PM | Register for Zoom Link

Add data visualization to your communication toolbox without learning to code. Tableau cuts down the time you need to spend creating visualizations through an intuitive graphical user interface. Learn the basics in this hands-on workshop.

GeoPandas: Parts 1 - 2

Nov 17, 19 | 12:30 PM to 3:30 PM | Register for Zoom Link

Geospatial data are an important component of social science and humanities data visualization and analysis. This workshop will introduce basic methods for working with geospatial data in Python using GeoPandas, a relatively new Python library for working with geospatial data that has matured and stabilized in the last few years. In the workshop we will import geospatial data stored in shapefiles and CSV files into geopandas objects. We will explore methods for subsetting and spatial reshaping these objects. We will use geopandas methods for defining and transforming coordinate reference systems. Participants will also join tabular data to geospatial data and create maps based on the data values.

Advanced Data Wrangling in R: Parts 1 - 2

Nov 18, 20 | 2:00 PM to 5:00 PM | Register for Zoom Link

The Advanced Data Wrangling Workshop aims to help students to learn powerful data wrangling tools and techniques in R to wrangle data with less pain and more fun. The workshop will show how R can make your data wrangling process faster, more reliable, and interpretable. The workshop focuses on introducing new package developments in the tidyverse, particularly dplyr 1.0.0, and it has something new and exciting even for experienced R users. The workshop will first examine how to reshape and manipulate data (Part 1) and discuss how to summarise data using the tidyverse packages (Part 2).
Intro to Data Visualization in Python

Nov 19 | 2:00 PM to 5:00 PM | Register for Zoom Link

For this workshop, we'll provide an introduction to visualization with Python. We'll cover visualization theory and plotting with Matplotlib and Seaborn, working through examples in a Jupyter (formerly IPython) notebook. We will be covering topics in line, bar, scatter, and boxplot.

Intro to Machine Learning in Python Parts 1 - 2

Nov 23, 9:00 AM to 12:00 PM | Nov 24, 2:00 PM to 5:00 PM | Register for Zoom Link

This workshop introduces students to scikit-learn, the popular machine learning library in Python, as well as the auto-ML library built on top of scikit-learn, TPOT. The focus will be on scikit-learn syntax and available tools to apply machine learning algorithms to datasets.

Intro to Machine Learning in R Parts 1 - 2

Nov 23, 24 | 2:00 PM to 5:00 PM | Register for Zoom Link

Machine learning often evokes images of Skynet, self-driving cars, and computerized homes. However, these ideas are less science fiction as they are tangible phenomena that are predicated on description, classification, prediction, and pattern recognition in data. We will discuss basic features of supervised machine learning algorithms including k-nearest neighbor, linear regression, decision tree, random forest, boosting, and ensembling. Prior knowledge requirements: R FUN'damentals: Parts 1 through 4 or previous intermediate working knowledge of R.

See our workshop calendar for more November workshops!

Berkeley Prizes and Honors Program, Fall 2020

Please note the Fabilli-Hoffer contest is the only contest that is open to faculty and staff as well as students. There is up to $7000 in prize money available for winning Fabilli-Hoffer prize submissions. This year’s topic is – Why Now? Please check contest deadlines on the web-site. Most deadlines are November 2020 - March, 2021.

Details for all the Prize contests can be found at:
The Prizes Program at UC Berkeley (prizes@berkeley.edu) is an important forum for rewarding creative expression and scholarly achievement by Berkeley's finest students. Winners receive both recognition and a cash prize, which is coordinated with the winner's financial aid package. Prize competitions are open to students of any major. Prizes are administered under the direction of the Academic Senate Committee on Prizes. Copies of the essays and poetry submissions chosen to receive prizes are archived at the Bancroft Library at the end of each year.

Student PIRG Update: Hunger and Homeless Awareness Week, 11/15-11/22

Student PIRGs wanted to give an update on amplifying the power of student activism and how anyone can be involved.

Our nonpartisan Student PIRGs’ New Voters Project is working (virtually) to get out the youth vote this fall, building on the organization’s 35-year history that has helped 2 million students register to vote and made more than 3 million Get out the Vote contacts.

Student PIRGs proven and tested methods for increasing youth registration and turnout. Young people are more likely to respond to messages from their peers and figures they know and trust. That’s why our team is reaching out to hundreds of professors, departments, and administrators to share information about the upcoming voter registration deadlines and organizing calling and texting events where volunteers reach out to the people they know to make sure they’re registered and have a plan to vote. So far we have mobilized over 2 thousand remote interns who have planned digital events for National Voter Registration Day and National Voter Education Week that have helped thousands of students register to vote.

We are partnering with the Scholars Strategy Network to continue to help faculty get their students vote ready. If you would like to receive resources or have our team come and make an announcement in your class- sign up here.

Our chapters will also be participating in Hunger and Homelessness Awareness Week 2020 which will take place on November 15-22 2020. If you or your institution is interested in participating please register your events here: https://hhweek.org/register/
Hunger and Homelessness Awareness Week is an annual program where people come together from across the country to draw attention to the problems of hunger and homelessness. Due to the Coronavirus crisis, food banks across the country are grappling with the enormous challenge of increasing need without the volunteers and canned food drives they once relied on. The faces of hunger and homelessness will change rapidly as a result.

Even though our events will be virtual this year—that doesn't mean our week of action will be any less impactful. We know that digital events and fundraisers are still crucial organizing work that can continue to make real change even in these unprecedented times. If you or your institution is interested in participating please feel free to forward them this email and have them contact supton@studentpirgs.org.

Our program teaches students to take the problems they have learned about in the classroom and work towards the solutions. Student PIRGs continue innovating and testing new ways to mobilize young people as we all navigate the pandemic.

BSA London School of Economics and Political Science Info Session, 11/16

Berkeley Study Abroad will be holding an information session for the yearlong study abroad program at The London School of Economics and Political Science on Monday, November 16 at 4-5pm. Here is the link to register: https://bit.ly/LSEYearInfoMtg

As you may know, LSE has an exchange agreement exclusively with UC Berkeley, allowing Berkeley undergraduates the opportunity to study at LSE for a YEAR through the LSE General Course. Students will earn UC credit and their financial aid will travel with them, as the program is offered through UCEAP - the University of California Education Abroad Program. Additional scholarships are available.

For more information, visit:

Join us for a Presentation and Q&A Session

This is an opportunity to learn more about the program and ask a current student and the Assistant Director questions.

The MAS in Criminology, Law and Society online program is specifically tailored for working professionals seeking leadership positions within their organizations in a range of fields such as corrections, law enforcement, social services, probation/parole, and public administrative roles, the MAS program allows students the flexibility they need while studying with the same UCI faculty who teach on campus.

We are currently ranked No.1 in the nation among criminology and criminal justice online master programs by U.S. News and World Report

Harvard Psychology: The Science of Diversity, 11/29

Join us for this Global Online Event. A presentation on THE SCIENCE OF DIVERSITY. Recognized by Oxford University Press as one of the top nine most important books of 2020 to address racism and hate and strive for sustainable leadership. What makes this book so unique is that it does not promote a particular agenda, but instead teaches us how to have open dialog using scientific reasoning about the most important polarizing questions we are facing today.

UCB Perennial Paper Submissions, 11/29

We are accepting research paper submissions for our Fall 2020 issue, which will include articles and papers centered on the theme of transformation. Whether it means transforming the way we think about the relationship between humans and the environment, how we manage forests and fires, or how to address environmental injustice, there are many avenues to instigate transformation. In this issue, we want to highlight the numerous ways we can reshape and transform our society to become more just, equitable, and sustainable. We believe there are psychology majors who study environmental psychology and can publish their papers!

November 29 is the deadline for submissions.
RESEARCH PAPER SUBMISSIONS

About Us
Perennial is UC Berkeley’s premier undergraduate environmental journal, serving as an open and accessible platform to showcase the work of Berkeley’s environmental community. We publish original editorials written by our staff and academic articles submitted by undergraduates. Ultimately, Perennial aims to raise awareness about the earth’s most critical issues and inspire innovative solutions to tackle them.

Fall 2020 Theme — “Transformation”
In the past year alone, we’ve undergone several crises: the COVID-19 pandemic, enduring institutionalized racism, and the increasing wildfires and heat waves amplified by climate change. These crises are interconnected, exacerbating social disparities and environmental injustice. Today, more people are calling for this year to be a crossroads: an opportunity to reshape our society for the better.

Whether it means transforming the way we think about the relationship between humans and the environment, how we manage forests and fires, or how we can address environmental injustice, there are many avenues to instigate transformation. In this issue, we want to highlight the numerous ways we can reshape and transform our society to become more just, equitable, and sustainable.

Submission Details
- Written by an undergraduate Berkeley student
- Cites reliable sources using MLA style
- Researched and written within the last calendar year
- Related to the theme “transformation” in some way

Submissions are accepted until November 29, 2020 and reviewed on a rolling basis: tinyurl.com/perennialsessionsf20

Apply to Our Program!
- Learn more about our program here
- Link to application: APPLY HERE
- Application deadline: Dec 1, 2020
- Optional GRE

Our Program:
Our program trains students to integrate theory with rigorous research methodology to address issues in psychology and the study of mental and physical health. Students are trained to be independent scholars who think critically and pursue excellence in research and teaching in their field of study. Collaboration within the department, across disciplines, and with neighboring medical and academic institutions (i.e., University of Houston, Baylor College of Medicine, MD Anderson, UT Health, Methodist Hospital) is ingrained in our program’s culture.

Students are trained to use innovative methodology to conduct research in health psychology and related areas. These include the use of venous blood draws, EKG, fMRI, neuropsychological assessments, structured interviews, stress paradigms, ecological momentary assessment (EMA) technology, and behavioral testing.

Research topics
- Social and emotional well-being: emotion regulation, attachment theory, close relationships
- Stress across the lifespan: early life stress, discrimination in the workplace, spousal bereavement, spousal caregiving
- Physical and mental conditions: aging, depression, complicated grief, cardiovascular disease, Alzheimer’s disease

UCLA URJP Accepting Research Paper Submissions, 12/15

CALL FOR UNDERGRADUATE RESEARCH PAPERS

Have you completed a research paper in a psychology-related field (i.e. psychology, cognitive science, neuroscience, linguistics)? Are you looking for a platform to publish your work?

If so, The Undergraduate Research Journal of Psychology at UCLA (URJP) WANTS YOU to submit your papers for our annual publication, expected to be released Spring 2021.

URJP is an organization dedicated to informing the community of psychological findings through research run by undergraduates from all universities. Last year, we received submissions ranging from local to international universities. URJP is one of the few established psychology journals that publishes undergraduate psychological research.

To submit, the papers must fulfill the requirements below:

- Original work completed by undergraduates (Includes senior honors theses, independent research, reviews, theoretical papers, and other scholarly writing)
- Never before been published

If you have not completed an independent research project, we still encourage you to apply by submitting a “literature review article” which does not require access to research data.

The deadline to submit papers is December 15, 2020 at 11:59 P.M. Multiple submissions from one author are welcome. If you would like to submit an article for consideration, please complete the following:

- Replace any identifying information (i.e. author name, institution) with empty brackets, to ensure anonymity within the selection process
Miscellaneous Opportunities: Week of November 16, 2020

- Visit our website's submission page, https://urjp.psych.ucla.edu/submissions/

Master of Science in Biomedical Imaging

Admitting for Fall 2021

The Master of Science in Biomedical Imaging (MSBI) program provides theoretical and practical exposure to all aspects of medical imaging technology. The program can be completed in one year of full time study and allows students to learn the foundations of medical imaging, explore how imaging is applied in medical practice, and perform independent research under the supervision of faculty that are leaders in this exciting field.

The Department of Radiology and Biomedical Imaging at UCSF features an outstanding faculty and is annually ranked amongst the top programs in the country for both research and training. MSBI students interact closely with faculty and have the opportunity to contribute to research activities in a wide array of applications ranging from image processing to the development of new molecular imaging agents. MSBI students commonly go on to MD and PhD programs, or may choose to work in industries that develop imaging related products or apply medical imaging in product development.

Come On Out - Japan’s 6th Annual Global English Camp Summer Internship Program

Attention students and recent graduates!

We are launching Come On Out - Japan’s 6th Annual Global English Camp Summer Internship Program and extending our invitation to top Universities and Japanese high school students for a cross-cultural learning experience.
We are currently seeking university students and recent graduates with native level English skills who are passionate about Japanese culture, gaining global experience, and mentoring others. They will be offered the opportunity to come to Japan for five weeks from mid-July to late August, 2021. Although this is an unpaid internship, the sponsor is providing certain expenses for each intern who participates in the six-week program. Airfare, lodging, meal and transportation subsidies will be provided. The program also offers optional Japanese language classes, field trips and an overnight trip. These additional opportunities are all designed to add cultural enrichment to your summer abroad experience.

This program is vastly different from any other traditional teaching position in Japan. Interns will facilitate English conversations with Japanese high school students on a variety of relevant global topics ranging from discussing the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals to their personal life missions. Interns will be able to extend mentorship to new students each week as well as form lifelong connections with their fellow interns inside and outside the classroom.

We do not have any Japanese fluency requirements. Come On Out - Japan accepts undergraduates, graduates and recently graduated students as well.

Applications are now open at http://www.comeonoutjapan.com! If you have additional questions regarding the program, please contact Come on Out - Japan directly at info@comeonoutjapan.com or via the inquiry tab on our website. Undergraduate Research Newsletter

Dear undergraduate students,

This is a copy of the Undergraduate Research Newsletter, pasted below, and also linked here, which we send out every two weeks. You are receiving it today because your advisor has forwarded it to you. However, if you would like to get it directly from us every two weeks (to not miss any late-breaking news), please fill out this short form to sign up for our listserv directly. Very early spring is the time to pounce on undergraduate research opportunities, which means right now is the best time to attend workshops to get oriented/gain key skills, figure out which programs will work for you. I hope to meet you soon in the workshops!

Mental Health United Recruiting Members

My name is Ryan Cabote and I am a sophomore Psychology student and I recently started a student-run mental health organization called Mental Health United and we are currently looking for people to become apart of our team!

Given that, are you interested in working on projects to provide mental health resources to underserved communities? Do you want to help eliminate mental health disparities? If so, apply to become a part of the Mental Health United family! We currently have three team positions open that all pertain to different interests (e.g. Web Development and Writing). If you want to learn more, visit linktr.ee/mentalhealthunited.

Indeed, there are many other student-run mental health organizations out there, so what makes Mental Health United different from other student-run mental health organizations?

Integration. Our goal at the moment is to implement Mental Health First Aid into California Community Colleges, California State Universities, and the University of California system, in addition to other schools in California, and make the certification mandatory for all staff and students. Through integration, we are able to provide a tangible resource for the mental health community and essentially make Mental Health First Aid as common as Cardiopulmonary Resuscitation (CPR). After integrating training all throughout California, we aspire to widen our impact throughout the nation and eventually internationally.

Want to become apart of the change? Join today! Please do not hesitate to contact me if you have any questions or concerns at ryancabote808@gmail.com. Thank you for your time!
Apply to become a part of the team!
