SLC Vote. Write. Connect.

Dear writers,

Happy November 3rd! We know there’s a lot going on in the world right now, with plenty at stake for your hearts and minds, so today we’re reaching out with just three simple recommendations:

1) Vote. If you’re eligible to cast a ballot in today’s US election and haven’t yet done so, we hope you’ll seize this moment to advocate for your voice and your values.

2) Make this a week of deep thinking and working. Even the briefest paper assignment or writing session is an opportunity to find power in your perspective and gather momentum for the weeks ahead.

3) Stay in community. We have a wealth of Appointment slots still open this week, and Drop-in is just a few clicks away. It’s also not too late to secure Weekly tutoring sessions through the end of the semester!
However you choose to spend today, keep your wheels in motion and know that we are fully in your corner. Wishing you energy, insight, and inspiration to spare!

Warmly,
SLC Writing Program

Announcements

- Attention Berkeley Qualtrics Users:
  - D-Lab has long been a champion of campus Qualtrics users by hosting workshops and supporting consulting requests. We have some updates that we would like to share with you regarding some changes to the campuswide Qualtrics brand that might affect your surveys.

○ Read about it here: https://dlab.berkeley.edu/blog/improved-data-protection-features-berkeley-qualtrics-users

Upcoming Workshops

● SQL for R Users

   ○ November 2 | 9am-12pm | Register for Zoom Link: https://dlab.berkeley.edu/training/sql-r-users-0
   ○ SQL is a viable option for anyone working with a large dataset. For this reason, SQL is a must-skill if you intend to work with Big Data or data-intensive organizations. The workshop aims to demonstrate that SQL is easy to learn, if you already know how to use DPLYR package in R. This will be a very hands-on workshop with live coding.

● Introduction to Bash + Github

   ○ November 2 | 1pm-4pm | Register for Zoom Link: https://dlab.berkeley.edu/training/introduction-bash-github-3
   ○ An introduction to programming basics in Bash and GitHub that are often assumed, but that you might have never had good instruction on! In this workshop, you will learn the basics to understand and use Git, including working with the popular "social coding" website, GitHub.

Discussion on Diversifying STEM, 11/04

Register here to participate to the Talk and Discussion:
'Diversifying STEM from PhD to Postdoc to Faculty'
with Dr. Colette Patt
Wednesday, November 4th, 5:00-6:00 PM
A model for addressing the nation’s severe underrepresentation of BIPOC faculty at research universities.

The US workforce in the mathematical, physical, environmental sciences, and engineering (MPESE) is severely lacking in underrepresented minorities (URMs). While URMs constitute more than 30% of the US population, the fraction of URMs among MPESE faculty at research universities is less than 5%. How can universities recognize and solve this problem?

Dr. Colette Patt is the Assistant Dean for Diversity Equity, Inclusion in the Mathematical & Physical Sciences. She will describe the current state of the problem and propose a new collaborative model to address attrition of URM graduate students after their PhD and further attrition from the postdoc to faculty level.

How it works: Sign up with your email address here.

13 CE credits available (See website for details) - CAMFT CE provider #134393

Working with shame cognitively can only get us so far. When clients get stuck in shame, the most powerful way to help them get unstuck may be to activate their imagination. In the Imaginal Realm, logic and time are fluid and flexible. What actually happened can be explored and changed. What was stuck in the cognitive realm can be reexamined and shifted. Shaming situations from the past can be revisited and resolved. In this workshop, we will utilize techniques from Drama Therapy, Focusing, Expressive Arts Therapy, Jungian active imagination processing and Hakomi. We will explore the critical voices and/or the childhood scenes that are still driving the internal shame dynamic in the client.

You will learn to help clients:

● Externalize shame so that it can be worked with directly.
● Work with roles, parts and shame-based introjects.
● Access strength, resilience, inner resources and role repertoire.
● Find a deeper understanding by working with objects you already have in your office.
• Utilize imaginal techniques to give the shame back, so that it stays in the Imaginal Realm.

Once the shame is worked through in the Imaginal Realm, the client can interact with the world differently.

There is no prerequisite for this course. It can be taken by itself or as part of a sequence.

TO REGISTER, please visit the Schedule page at www.HealingShame.com.

For more information, call Sheila at 415-820-3974 or email Sheila@HealingShame.com.

The Center for Healing Shame is approved by the California Association of Marriage and Family Therapists to sponsor continuing education for MFTs, LCSWs, LPCCs and LEPs in California - approved CE provider #134393. Berkeley and online courses meet the qualifications for 13 hours of continuing education credit. CE credits for PhDs, therapists and nurses outside of California in the U.S. and Canada are available through our co-sponsor. Please visit our website for details. The Center for Healing Shame maintains responsibility for this program/course and its content.

Janet Delaney Talk, 11/6

Join us on November 6, 10 am-11 am PDT for Janet Delaney's Talk!

For more than 40 years, fine art photographer Janet Delaney has chronicled change in the San Francisco neighborhood where she lived as a young woman and has been revisiting ever since. Through her photographs of the district now known as SOMA, its people, their surroundings and belongings, she has portrayed the transition from blacksmith shops and working-class diners to tech offices and sidewalk encampments. Now Delaney is in the process of sorting through and making sense of decades of work for a new book. In conversation with Future Histories Lab creative director Susan Moffat, Delaney will talk about the meaning of a personal archive, the nature of time and seeing, and the history of a neighborhood that has become a Bay Area icon of gentrification and displacement.

Making Your Journey to Medicine a Reality, 11/7

The event is titled The Future of Medicine: Making Your Journey to Medicine A Reality, which connects UC Berkeley students to top medical professionals, and allows them to learn about the ins and outs of applying to Medical School. Our speakers include Assistant Professor Emergency Medicine Physician Italo Brown, M.D., M.P.H at Stanford School of Medicine, Charlene Green from UC Davis School of Medicine Admissions, experts from Kaplan and many more medical professionals pursuing a variety of specialities. The event is taking place on Saturday, November 7th, 2020 from 9:30am-2:30pm PST, and includes presentations, Q&A sessions, networking opportunities, information sessions and panels. Students can RSVP at tinyurl.com/futureofmedicine2020.
The future belongs to those who have the ambition and resilience to fight on, to take on greater challenges, and who seek to make the world ever better. We seek to make that future more attainable by streamlining access to critical resources and inspiring the dauntless youth today who have the potential to become the greatest physicians and medical researchers of tomorrow.

Generation Mental Health Annual Conference, 11/13-14

My name is Kelli Martin, and I am the Director of Campus Chapters for Generation Mental Health.

I am reaching out to let you know about Generation Mental Health’s first annual conference, Global Mental Health: Today and Tomorrow. The event will be held virtually on November 13-14, 2020.

We believe this event will be of substantial interest and value to your department’s students and faculty. Our early bird student tickets cost just $5 if students buy them before October 4!
I would really appreciate it if you could share the blurb attached to this email with your department’s students and faculty via email and/or via your newsletter. We would also be grateful if you could share our event on your social media channels.

We will be really grateful for your support in helping to promote our conference. Please do not hesitate to let us know if you have any questions. We very much look forward to hearing from you.

Student PIRG Update: Hunger and Homeless Awareness Week, 11/15-11/22

Student PIRGs wanted to give an update on amplifying the power of student activism and how anyone can be involved.

Our nonpartisan Student PIRGs’ New Voters Project is working (virtually) to get out the youth vote this fall, building on the organization’s 35-year history that has helped 2 million students register to vote and made more than 3 million Get out the Vote contacts.

Student PIRGs proven and tested methods for increasing youth registration and turnout. Young people are more likely to respond to messages from their peers and figures they know and trust. That’s why our team is reaching out to hundreds of professors, departments, and administrators to share information about the upcoming voter registration deadlines and organizing calling and texting events where volunteers reach out to the people they know to make sure they’re registered and have a plan to vote. So far we have mobilized over 2 thousand remote interns who have planned digital events for National Voter Registration Day and National Voter Education Week that have helped thousands of students register to vote.

We are partnering with the Scholars Strategy Network to continue to help faculty get their students vote ready. If you would like to receive resources or have our team come and make an announcement in your class- sign up here.

Our chapters will also be participating in Hunger and Homelessness Awareness Week 2020 which will take place on November 15-22 2020. If you or your institution is interested in participating please register your events here: https://hhweek.org/register/
Hunger and Homelessness Awareness Week is an annual program where people come together from across the country to draw attention to the problems of hunger and homelessness. Due to the Coronavirus crisis, food banks across the country are grappling with the enormous challenge of increasing need without the volunteers and canned food drives they once relied on. The faces of hunger and homelessness will change rapidly as a result.

Even though our events will be virtual this year—that doesn't mean our week of action will be any less impactful. We know that digital events and fundraisers are still crucial organizing work that can continue to make real change even in these unprecedented times. If you or your institution is interested in participating please feel free to forward them this email and have them contact supton@studentpirgs.org

Our program teaches students to take the problems they have learned about in the classroom and work towards the solutions. Student PIRGs continue innovating and testing new ways to mobilize young people as we all navigate the pandemic.

The UG Research Journal of Psych at UCLA, 11/15

CALL FOR UNDERGRADUATE RESEARCH PAPERS

Have you completed a research paper in a psychology-related field (i.e. psychology, cognitive science, neuroscience, linguistics)? Are you looking for a platform to publish your work?

If so, The Undergraduate Research Journal of Psychology at UCLA (URJP) WANTS YOU to submit your papers for our annual publication, expected to be released Spring 2021.

URJP is an organization dedicated to informing the community of psychological findings through research run by undergraduates from all universities. Last year, we received submissions ranging from local to international universities. URJP is one of the few established psychology journals that publishes undergraduate psychological research.

To submit, the papers must fulfill the requirements below:
Miscellaneous Opportunities: Week of November 2, 2020

- Original work completed by undergraduates (Includes senior honors theses, independent research, reviews, theoretical papers, and other scholarly writing)
- Never before been published

If you have not completed an independent research project, we still encourage you to apply by submitting a “literature review article” which does not require access to research data.

The deadline to submit papers is November 15, 2020 at 11:59 P.M. Multiple submissions from one author are welcome. If you would like to submit an article for consideration, please complete the following:

- Replace any identifying information (i.e. author name, institution) with empty brackets, to ensure anonymity within the selection process
- Visit our website's submission page, https://urjp.psych.ucla.edu/submissions/
- Once you have filled out the form (https://forms.gle/MLcnVHqnMMPKoRfo7) linked on the submission page, send the following in an email to psychjournal.ucla@gmail.com
  - In the body of the email, include the following information: (1) your full name, (2) full article title, (3) article type (i.e., literature review, research article), (4) your email address

More information regarding our submission criteria and types of articles accepted can be found on our website, https://urjp.psych.ucla.edu/. To view our prior publications, please visit our website at https://urjp.psych.ucla.edu/publications/.

If you have any questions or concerns, please contact us at psychjournal.ucla@gmail.com for further information. We look forward to reviewing your submissions!

University of Texas at Austin Psychology PhD Program, 11/15

In light of recent events, the conversation around diversity and equity has become ever more pressing in our department. Through our recently formulated REACT 2020 plan, we are committed to increasing diversity among our faculty and graduate students. Our department is a top ranked graduate program in Psychological Science and as such, we are in a position to influence the future of psychology. In order to achieve the goal of a more diverse and representative field, we seek students from underrepresented backgrounds. We invite you to consider our program. If you would like to talk to a current graduate student in our program, please reach out to ebenasher@utexas.edu

Rice University’s PhD in Health Psych, 12/1/2020

Our Program:

Our program trains students to integrate theory with rigorous research methodology to address issues in psychology and the study of mental and physical health. Students are trained to be independent scholars who think critically and pursue excellence in research and teaching in their field of study. Collaboration within the department, across disciplines, and with neighboring medical and academic institutions (i.e., University of Houston, Baylor College of Medicine, MD Anderson, UT Health, Methodist Hospital) is ingrained in our program’s culture.

Students are trained to use innovative methodology to conduct research in health psychology and related areas. These include the use of venous blood draws, EKG, fMRI, neuropsychological assessments, structured interviews, stress paradigms, ecological momentary assessment (EMA) technology, and behavioral testing.

Research topics

- Social and emotional well-being: emotion regulation, attachment theory, close relationships
- Stress across the lifespan: early life stress, discrimination in the workplace, spousal bereavement, spousal caregiving
- Physical and mental conditions: aging, depression, complicated grief, cardiovascular disease, Alzheimer’s disease

Fall 2020: Career Connections Virtual Networking Series

Still not sure what you want to do after graduation?

Virtual for Fall 2020, Career Connections are co-sponsored by the Cal Alumni Association and the Career Center and allow students to explore different roles through casual conversations with Cal alumni and professionals.

- Connect via zoom with alumni and hear about their actual "day to day" at work
- Get tips and tricks on how to break into your field of interest
- Ask questions and make connections!

Register on Handshake to attend.
Find Your Future this Fall!

The Career Center is hosting 16 targeted, virtual career fairs on Handshake this fall. Register and create your schedule in advance by signing up for 1:1 and group sessions with employers (student registration opens approximately 2 weeks prior to each fair).

- Explore career and internship opportunities
- Build experience (self presentation, employer interactions, interview skills)
- Find Your Future

STAR Scholars Program

The Psychology STAR Scholars Program (Students Tackling Advanced Research), is an educational opportunity outreach program designed to support and guide underrepresented students to become involved in research and understand its application in the real world. These students engage with research in a meaningful way, connect with current Psychology PhD students, and prepare for careers in and out of academia. The program consists of two parts: (1) a Fall Seminar Series and (2) Winter Workshops and Mentoring Program.

Our virtual 2020 Fall Seminar Series is open to all students.

This series is led by our STAR Scholars mentors and faculty director, Dr. Cindy Lustig.

Upcoming Sessions
Please RSVP for any session that you wish to attend (you will get a Zoom link in the confirmation email).

Tues, Oct 27, 4-5:30pm: How to get involved in research as an undergraduate (and what to do if you can't get a position this year)

Wed, Nov 11, 4-5:30pm: Life of a doctor - but not that kind!

Wed, Dec 9, 4-5:30pm: Applying to research opportunities - the nitty-gritty and what NOT to do

SLC Updates

Hello writers!

Need some extra motivation to kick off your new writing week? We're here to remind you that Drop-in is now open for an additional two hours each day! Stop by for on-the-spot academic writing support from 10 AM-12 PM and 1-5 PM (PDT), Monday through Friday, until the end of the semester.

No matter your time zone or paper task, we hope our extended hours will help you build more Drop-in into your life. Remember, you needn't have anything written to benefit from a conversation about your writing. Just 30 minutes with one of our peer tutors can ensure you're embracing your process along with your potential.
May your arguments boom and your ideas blossom. We love seizing more of each day with you!

Warmly,
SLC Writing Program
Institute of Governmental Studies

Matsui Local Government Fellowship:
The Matsui Local Government Fellowship offers students the opportunity to get firsthand municipal experience in California's political and policy making communities. Matsui Center staff help place students in a local government internship of their choice. The internship involves full-time work during the summer and students receive a $1000 stipend to help with living costs and transportation. Click here to learn more.
Deadline to apply: Monday, February 15, 2020 by 4PM
Charles H. Percy Undergraduate Grant for Public Affairs Research:
The Institute of Governmental Studies will award up to four research grants in the amount of $500 each to UC Berkeley undergraduate students who are conducting research on an aspect of American politics, including public opinion, electoral behavior, civic participation, government institutions, social movements, and public policy. Click here to learn more.
Deadline to apply: Monday, November 30, 2020 by 4PM

Mike Synar Graduate Research Fellowship:
The Institute of Governmental Studies will award three Synar Graduate Research Fellowships of $3,000 each. The Mike Synar Graduate Research Fellowship is awarded to distinguished UC Berkeley graduate students who are writing their dissertations on an aspect of American politics, including comparative research across nations with the United States as a major case. Click here to learn more.
Deadline to apply: Monday, November 30, 2020 by 4PM

The John Gardner Public Service Fellowship Program selects three Fellows from the graduating class of UC Berkeley and provides each a $35,000 stipend to work in the governmental or nonprofit organization that most closely fits their public sector interests. Fellows are matched with a senior-level mentor during their 10-month fellowship. Past fellows have been placed at the Department of Justice, UN Global Pulse, and California Governor Newsom's office. The goal of the John Gardner Fellowship is to provide meaningful postgraduate leadership opportunities for UC Berkeley’s best students. Applications can be found here.
Deadline to apply: Friday, January 29, 2021.

Come On Out - Japan’s 6th Annual Global English Camp Summer Internship Program
Attention students and recent graduates!

We are launching Come On Out - Japan’s 6th Annual Global English Camp Summer Internship Program and extending our invitation to top Universities and Japanese high school students for a cross-cultural learning experience.
We are currently seeking university students and recent graduates with native level English skills who are passionate about Japanese culture, gaining global experience, and mentoring others. They will be offered the opportunity to come to Japan for five weeks from mid-July to late August, 2021. Although this is an unpaid internship, the sponsor is providing certain expenses for each intern who participates in the six-week program. Airfare, lodging, meal and transportation subsidies will be provided. The program also offers optional Japanese language classes, field trips and an overnight trip. These additional opportunities are all designed to add cultural enrichment to your summer abroad experience.

This program is vastly different from any other traditional teaching position in Japan. Interns will facilitate English conversations with Japanese high school students on a variety of relevant global topics ranging from discussing the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals to their personal life missions. Interns will be able to extend mentorship to new students each week as well as form lifelong connections with their fellow interns inside and outside the classroom.

We do not have any Japanese fluency requirements. Come On Out - Japan accepts undergraduates, graduates and recently graduated students as well.

Applications are now open at http://www.comeonoutjapan.com! If you have additional questions regarding the program, please contact Come on Out - Japan directly at info@comeonoutjapan.com or via the inquiry tab on our website. For more specific information, please check out the following important links.

Undergraduate Research Newsletter

Dear undergraduate students,

This is a copy of the Undergraduate Research Newsletter, pasted below, and also linked here, which we send out every two weeks. You are receiving it today because your advisor has forwarded it to you. However, if you would like to get it directly from us every two weeks (to not miss any late-breaking news), please fill out this short form to sign up for our listserv directly. Very early spring is the time to pounce on undergraduate research opportunities, which means right now is the best time to attend workshops to get oriented/gain key skills, figure out which programs will work for you. I hope to meet you soon in the workshops!
