Berkeley Prizes and Honors Program, Fall 2020

Please note the Fabilli-Hoffer contest is the only contest that is open to faculty and staff as well as students. There is up to $7000 in prize money available for winning Fabilli-Hoffer prize submissions. This year’s topic is – Why Now? Please check contest deadlines on the web-site. Most deadlines are November 2020 - March, 2021.

Details for all the Prize contests can be found at: https://financialaid.berkeley.edu/prizes-and-honors

The Prizes Program at UC Berkeley (prizes@berkeley.edu) is an important forum for rewarding creative expression and scholarly achievement by Berkeley's finest students. Winners receive both recognition and a cash prize, which is coordinated with the winner's financial aid package. Prize competitions are open to students of any major. Prizes are administered under the direction of the Academic Senate Committee on Prizes. Copies of the essays and poetry submissions chosen to receive prizes are archived at the Bancroft Library at the end of each year.

Rice University’s PhD in Health Psych, 12/1/2020

Join Rice University's Doctoral Program in Health Psychology!

Apply to Our Program!
- Learn more about our program here
- Link to application: APPLY HERE
- Application deadline: Dec 1, 2020
- Optional GRE

Our Program:
Our program trains students to integrate theory with rigorous research methodology to address issues in psychology and the study of mental and physical health. Students are trained to be independent scholars who think critically and pursue excellence in research and teaching in their field of study. Collaboration within the department, across disciplines, and with neighboring medical and academic institutions (i.e., University of Houston, Baylor College of Medicine, MD Anderson, UT Health, Methodist Hospital) is ingrained in our program’s culture.

Students are trained to use innovative methodology to conduct research in health psychology and related areas. These include the use of venous blood draws, EKG, fMRI, neuropsychological assessments, structured interviews, stress paradigms, ecological momentary assessment (EMA) technology, and behavioral testing.

Research topics
- Social and emotional well-being: emotion regulation, attachment theory, close relationships
- Stress across the lifespan: early life stress, discrimination in the workplace, spousal bereavement, spousal caregiving
- Physical and mental conditions: aging, depression, complicated grief, cardiovascular disease, Alzheimer’s disease

UCLA URJP Accepting Research Paper Submissions, 12/15

CALL FOR UNDERGRADUATE RESEARCH PAPERS

Have you completed a research paper in a psychology-related field (i.e. psychology, cognitive science, neuroscience, linguistics)? Are you looking for a platform to publish your work?

If so, The Undergraduate Research Journal of Psychology at UCLA (URJP) WANTS YOU to submit your papers for our annual publication, expected to be released Spring 2021.

URJP is an organization dedicated to informing the community of psychological findings through research run by undergraduates from all universities. Last year, we received submissions ranging from local to international universities. URJP is one of the few established psychology journals that publishes undergraduate psychological research.

To submit, the papers must fulfill the requirements below:

- Original work completed by undergraduates (Includes senior honors theses, independent research, reviews, theoretical papers, and other scholarly writing)
- Never before been published

If you have not completed an independent research project, we still encourage you to apply by submitting a “literature review article” which does not require access to research data.

The deadline to submit papers is December 15, 2020 at 11:59 P.M. Multiple submissions from one author are welcome. If you would like to submit an article for consideration, please complete the following:

- Replace any identifying information (i.e. author name, institution) with empty brackets, to ensure anonymity within the selection process
Visit our website's submission page, https://urjp.psych.ucla.edu/submissions/

Once you have filled out the form (https://forms.gle/MLcnVHqnMMPKoRfo7) linked on the submission page, send the following in an email to psychjournal.ucla@gmail.com

- In the body of the email, include the following information: (1) your full name, (2) full article title, (3) article type (i.e., literature review, research article), (4) your email address

More information regarding our submission criteria and types of articles accepted can be found on our website, https://urjp.psych.ucla.edu/. To view our prior publications, please visit our website at https://urjp.psych.ucla.edu/publications/.

If you have any questions or concerns, please contact us at psychjournal.ucla@gmail.com for further information. We look forward to reviewing your submissions!

Master of Science in Biomedical Imaging

Admitting for Fall 2021

The Master of Science in Biomedical Imaging (MSBI) program provides theoretical and practical exposure to all aspects of medical imaging technology. The program can be completed in one year of full time study and allows students to learn the foundations of medical imaging, explore how imaging is applied in medical practice, and perform independent research under the supervision of faculty that are leaders in this exciting field.

The Department of Radiology and Biomedical Imaging at UCSF features an outstanding faculty and is annually ranked amongst the top programs in the country for both research and training. MSBI students interact closely with faculty and have the opportunity to contribute to research activities in a wide array of applications ranging from image processing to the development of new molecular imaging agents. MSBI students commonly go on to MD and PhD programs, or may choose to work in industries that develop imaging related products or apply medical imaging in product development.

Come On Out - Japan’s 6th Annual Global English Camp Summer Internship Program

Attention students and recent graduates!

We are launching Come On Out - Japan’s 6th Annual Global English Camp Summer Internship Program and extending our invitation to top Universities and Japanese high school students for a cross-cultural learning experience.
We are currently seeking university students and recent graduates with native level English skills who are passionate about Japanese culture, gaining global experience, and mentoring others. They will be offered the opportunity to come to Japan for five weeks from mid-July to late August, 2021. Although this is an unpaid internship, the sponsor is providing certain expenses for each intern who participates in the six-week program. Airfare, lodging, meal and transportation subsidies will be provided. The program also offers optional Japanese language classes, field trips and an overnight trip. These additional opportunities are all designed to add cultural enrichment to your summer abroad experience.

This program is vastly different from any other traditional teaching position in Japan. Interns will facilitate English conversations with Japanese high school students on a variety of relevant global topics ranging from discussing the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals to their personal life missions. Interns will be able to extend mentorship to new students each week as well as form lifelong connections with their fellow interns inside and outside the classroom.

We do not have any Japanese fluency requirements. Come On Out - Japan accepts undergraduates, graduates and recently graduated students as well.

Applications are now open at http://www.comeonoutjapan.com! If you have additional questions regarding the program, please contact Come on Out - Japan directly at info@comeonoutjapan.com or via the inquiry tab on our website. For more specific information, please check out the following important links.

Undergraduate Research Newsletter

Dear undergraduate students,

This is a copy of the Undergraduate Research Newsletter, pasted below, and also linked here, which we send out every two weeks. You are receiving it today because your advisor has forwarded it to you. However, if you would like to get it directly from us every two weeks (to not miss any late-breaking news), please fill out this short form to sign up for our listserv directly. Very early spring is the time to pounce on undergraduate research opportunities, which means right now is the best time to attend workshops to get oriented/gain key skills, figure out which programs will work for you. I hope to meet you soon in the workshops!

Mental Health United Recruiting Members

My name is Ryan Cabote and I am a sophomore Psychology student and I recently started a student-run mental health organization called Mental Health United and we are currently looking for people to become apart of our team!

Given that, are you interested in working on projects to provide mental health resources to underserved communities? Do you want to help eliminate mental health disparities? If so, apply to become a part of the Mental Health United family! We currently have three team positions open that all pertain to different interests (e.g. Web Development and Writing). If you want to learn more, visit linktr.ee/mentalhealthunited.

Indeed, there are many other student-run mental health organizations out there, so what makes Mental Health United different from other student-run mental health organizations?

Integration. Our goal at the moment is to implement Mental Health First Aid into California Community Colleges, California State Universities, and the University of California system, in addition to other schools in California, and make the certification mandatory for all staff and students. Through integration, we are able to provide a tangible resource for the mental health community and essentially make Mental Health First Aid as common as Cardiopulmonary Resuscitation (CPR). After integrating training all throughout California, we aspire to widen our impact throughout the nation and eventually internationally.

Want to become apart of the change? Join today! Please do not hesitate to contact me if you have any questions or concerns at ryancabote808@gmail.com. Thank you for your time!
Apply to become a part of the team!
