CRG Student Research Grants

Fall 2020 Application Deadline: Nov. 15, 2020

UNDERGRADUATE GRANTS $100 - $750

GRADUATE GRANTS $200 - $1000

Click here to apply and for more information: <https://www.crg.berkeley.edu/student-grants/>

The Center for Race & Gender welcomes proposals from undergraduate and graduate students to support research or creative projects. Project topics should be consonant with CRG's mandate to support critical student research on race, gender, and their intersections in a wide variety of social, cultural, and institutional contexts. Proposals that address both race and gender will be prioritized, and proposals that do not address race at all will be de-prioritized. Projects may be oriented toward academic research or may approach race and gender issues from the perspectives of the media, fine arts, and performing arts.

ELIGIBILITY: Applications can be submitted by any student enrolled in an undergraduate or graduate program at UC Berkeley. Proposals that support dissertation or thesis research are strongly encouraged.

Berkeley Prizes and Honors Program, Fall 2020

Please note the Fabilli-Hoffer contest is the only contest that is open to faculty and staff as well as students. There is up to $7000 in prize money available for winning Fabilli-Hoffer prize submissions. This year's topic is – Why Now? Please check contest deadlines on the web-site. Most deadlines are November 2020 - March, 2021.

Details for all the Prize contests can be found at:
<https://financialaid.berkeley.edu/prizes-and-honors>

The Prizes Program at UC Berkeley (prizes@berkeley.edu) is an important forum for rewarding creative expression and scholarly achievement by Berkeley's finest students. Winners receive both recognition and a cash prize, which is coordinated with the winner's financial aid package. Prize competitions are open to students of any major. Prizes are administered under the direction of the Academic Senate Committee on Prizes. Copies of the essays and poetry submissions chosen to receive prizes are archived at the Bancroft Library at the end of each year.

Summer Social Justice Filmmaking Course:

Stories of Place: Documentary filmmaking workshop

HUM / ENV DES course number will be announced

4 units, humanities studio course

Applications for admission will be available in Fall 2020

Instructor: Ray Telles

Documentary filmmaking can shed light on critical urban stories. In this documentary workshop you will create a short documentary about contemporary social justice issues, a profile of an individual or organization or a video essay. You'll conduct pre-production research and development and shoot, write, and edit a 10 minute documentary. Each student will be responsible for the production of their own film as reporters and producers of their projects. They will collaborate with other team members in shooting and editing their films, serving as crew for each other. Final projects will be screened on campus and will be available for use by community partners

Generation Mental Health Annual Conference, 11/13-14

My name is Kelli Martin, and I am the Director of Campus Chapters for Generation Mental Health.

I am reaching out to let you know about Generation Mental Health's first annual conference, Global Mental Health: Today and Tomorrow. The event will be held virtually on November 13-14, 2020.

We believe this event will be of substantial interest and value to your department's students and faculty. Our early bird student tickets cost just $5 if students buy them before October 4!

I would really appreciate it if you could share the blurb attached to this email with your department's students and faculty via email and/or via your newsletter. We would also be grateful if you could share our event on your social media channels.

We will be really grateful for your support in helping to promote our conference. Please do not hesitate to let us know if you have any questions. We very much look forward to hearing from you.

Student PIRG Update: Hunger and Homeless Awareness Week, 11/15-11/22

Student PIRGs wanted to give an update on amplifying the power of student activism and how anyone can be involved.

Our nonpartisan Student PIRGs' New Voters Project is working (virtually) to get out the youth vote this fall, building on the organization's 35-year history that has helped 2 million students register to vote and made more than 3 million Get out the Vote contacts.

Student PIRGs proven and tested methods for increasing youth registration and turnout. Young people are more likely to respond to messages from their peers and figures they know and trust. That's why our team is reaching out to hundreds of professors, departments, and administrators to share information about the upcoming voter registration deadlines and organizing calling and texting events where volunteers reach out to the people they know to make sure they're registered and have a plan to vote. So far we have mobilized over 2 thousand remote interns who have planned digital events for National Voter Registration Day and National Voter Education Week that have helped thousands of students register to vote.

We are partnering with the Scholars Strategy Network to continue to help faculty get their students vote ready. If you would like to receive resources or have our team come and make an announcement in your class- sign up here.

Our chapters will also be participating in Hunger and Homelessness Awareness Week 2020 which will take place on November 15-22 2020. If you or your institution is interested in participating please register your events here: <https://hhweek.org/register/>

Hunger and Homelessness Awareness Week is an annual program where people come together from across the country to draw attention to the problems of hunger and homelessness. Due to the Coronavirus crisis, food banks across the country are grappling with the enormous challenge of increasing need without the volunteers and canned food drives they once relied on. The faces of hunger and homelessness will change rapidly as a result.

Even though our events will be virtual this year-that doesn't mean our week of action will be any less impactful. We know that digital events and fundraisers are still crucial organizing work that can continue to make real change even in these unprecedented times. If you or your institution is interested in participating please feel free to forward them this email and have them contact supton@studentpirgs.org

Our program teaches students to take the problems they have learned about in the classroom and work towards the solutions. Student PIRGs continue innovating and testing new ways to mobilize young people as we all navigate the pandemic.

The UG Research Journal of Psych at UCLA, 11/15

CALL FOR UNDERGRADUATE RESEARCH PAPERS

Have you completed a research paper in a psychology-related field (i.e. psychology, cognitive science, neuroscience, linguistics)? Are you looking for a platform to publish your work?

If so, The Undergraduate Research Journal of Psychology at UCLA (URJP) WANTS YOU to submit your papers for our annual publication, expected to be released Spring 2021.

URJP is an organization dedicated to informing the community of psychological findings through research run by undergraduates from all universities. Last year, we received submissions ranging from local to international universities. URJP is one of the few established psychology journals that publishes undergraduate psychological research.

To submit, the papers must fulfill the requirements below:

- Original work completed by undergraduates (Includes senior honors theses, independent research, reviews, theoretical papers, and other scholarly writing)
- Never before been published

If you have not completed an independent research project, we still encourage you to apply by submitting a “literature review article” which does not require access to research data.

Miscellaneous Opportunities: Week of November 9, 2020

The deadline to submit papers is November 15, 2020 at 11:59 P.M. Multiple submissions from one author are welcome. If you would like to submit an article for consideration, please complete the following:

- Replace any identifying information (i.e. author name, institution) with empty brackets, to ensure anonymity within the selection process
- Visit our website's submission page, <https://urjp.psych.ucla.edu/submissions/>
- Once you have filled out the form (<https://forms.gle/MLcnVHqnMMPKoRfo7>) linked on the submission page, send the following in an email to psychjournal.ucla@gmail.com
 - In the body of the email, include the following information: (1) your full name, (2) full article title, (3) article type (i.e., literature review, research article), (4) your email address

More information regarding our submission criteria and types of articles accepted can be found on our website, <https://urjp.psych.ucla.edu/>. To view our prior publications, please visit our website at <https://urjp.psych.ucla.edu/publications/>.

If you have any questions or concerns, please contact us at psychjournal.ucla@gmail.com for further information. We look forward to reviewing your submissions!

University of Texas at Austin Psychology PhD Program, 11/15

In light of recent events, the conversation around diversity and equity has become ever more pressing in our department. Through our recently formulated REACT 2020 plan, we are committed to increasing diversity among our faculty and graduate students. Our department is a top ranked graduate program in Psychological Science and as such, we are in a position to influence the future of psychology. In order to achieve the goal of a more diverse and representative field, we seek students from underrepresented backgrounds. We invite you to consider our program. If you would like to talk to a current graduate student in our program, please reach out to ebenasher@utexas.edu

RICE

Join Rice University's Doctoral Program in Health Psychology!

Apply to Our Program!

- Learn more about our program here
- Link to application: APPLY HERE
- Application deadline: Dec 1, 2020
- Optional GRE

Our Program:

Our program trains students to integrate theory with rigorous research methodology to address issues in psychology and the study of mental and physical health. Students are trained to be independent scholars who think critically and pursue excellence in research and teaching in their field of study. Collaboration within the department, across disciplines, and with neighboring medical and academic institutions (i.e., University of Houston, Baylor College of Medicine, MD Anderson, UT Health, Methodist Hospital) is ingrained in our program's culture.

Students are trained to use innovative methodology to conduct research in health psychology and related areas. These include the use of venous blood draws, EKG, fMRI, neuropsychological assessments, structured interviews, stress paradigms, ecological momentary assessment (EMA) technology, and behavioral testing.

Research topics

- Social and emotional well-being: emotion regulation, attachment theory, close relationships
- Stress across the lifespan: early life stress, discrimination in the workplace, spousal bereavement, spousal caregiving
- Physical and mental conditions: aging, depression, complicated grief, cardiovascular disease, Alzheimer's disease

Come On Out - Japan's 6th Annual Global English Camp Summer Internship Program

Attention students and recent graduates!

We are launching Come On Out - Japan's 6th Annual Global English Camp Summer Internship Program and extending our invitation to top Universities and Japanese high school students for a cross-cultural learning experience.

Miscellaneous Opportunities: Week of November 9, 2020

We are currently seeking university students and recent graduates with native level English skills who are passionate about Japanese culture, gaining global experience, and mentoring others. They will be offered the opportunity to come to Japan for five weeks from mid-July to late August, 2021. Although this is an unpaid internship, the sponsor is providing certain expenses for each intern who participates in the six-week program. Airfare, lodging, meal and transportation subsidies will be provided. The program also offers optional Japanese language classes, field trips and an overnight trip. These additional opportunities are all designed to add cultural enrichment to your summer abroad experience.

This program is vastly different from any other traditional teaching position in Japan. Interns will facilitate English conversations with Japanese high school students on a variety of relevant global topics ranging from discussing the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals to their personal life missions. Interns will be able to extend mentorship to new students each week as well as form lifelong connections with their fellow interns inside and outside the classroom.

We do not have any Japanese fluency requirements. Come On Out - Japan accepts undergraduates, graduates and recently graduated students as well.

Applications are now open at <http://www.comeonoutjapan.com>! If you have additional questions regarding the program, please contact Come on Out - Japan directly at info@comeonoutjapan.com or via the inquiry tab on our website.
