Berkeley Prizes and Honors Program, Fall 2020

Please note the Fabilli-Hoffer contest is the only contest that is open to faculty and staff as well as students. There is up to $7000 in prize money available for winning Fabilli-Hoffer prize submissions. This year’s topic is – Why Now? Please check contest deadlines on the web-site. Most deadlines are November 2020 - March, 2021.

Details for all the Prize contests can be found at:
https://financialaid.berkeley.edu/prizes-and-honors

The Prizes Program at UC Berkeley (prizes@berkeley.edu) is an important forum for rewarding creative expression and scholarly achievement by Berkeley's finest students. Winners receive both recognition and a cash prize, which is coordinated with the winner's financial aid package. Prize competitions are open to students of any major. Prizes are administered under the direction of the Academic Senate Committee on Prizes. Copies of the essays and poetry submissions chosen to receive prizes are archived at the Bancroft Library at the end of each year.

SLC Updates, Fall 2020

Dear writers,

Happy RRR Week! As you greet the days and deadlines ahead, we’re writing to let you know we are still in your corner. This is our last week of service for the semester, and we can't wait to show up and show out with you—paper by paper, hour by hour.

One bit of wisdom we hope you’ll heed: the earlier your visit, the richer and more rewarding the conversation. We have one more Appointment slot left today, with plenty more going up later this week. If you’re just getting started, we especially encourage you to make a Drop-in pit stop.

As we recently shared on Facebook, in the immortal words of James Baldwin, “What you really need in the beginning is someone to let you know that the effort is real.”
Study, stretch, come by and see us. We’re rooting for you!

Warmly,
SLC Writing Program

RRR Week Hours
A friendly reminder that D-Lab will remain open during RRR week (Dec 7th—11th) providing workshops and consulting. We can't wait to see you!
Blog of the Week
We Are Working On
Digital Health Social Justice: Here’s Why.
By Caroline Figueroa, MD Ph.D., Postdoctoral Scholar at UC Berkeley School of Social Welfare and Senior Data Science Fellow at D-Lab.

As digital health skyrockets, so do concerns about who is represented in the science and the data. It’s becoming painfully clear that digital health may even increase health inequities if we continue to ignore issues of social justice.

Upcoming Conferences

● TextXD: Text Analysis Across Domains
Dec. 10 - 12 | 2:00 PM to 5:00 PM | Register for Zoom Link

TextXD brings together researchers from across a wide range of disciplines, who work with text as a primary source of data. We work to identify common principles, algorithms, and tools to advance text-intensive research, and break down the boundaries between domains, to foster exchange and new collaborations among like-minded researchers. We encourage scholars and practitioners from a broad disciplinary and geographic range to apply. Talks will range from the theory of text analysis and deep learning to applied analyses or new software packages.

Find more information here:
https://www.textxd.org/?mc_cid=d85ef03802&mc_eid=3be528eb15

● TextXD: 'Law and Society' Hackathon
Dec. 10 | 10:00 AM | Register

BIDS’ TextXD 2020 conference on December 10-12 will feature an all-new, 48-hour TextXD ‘Law and Society’ Hackathon event starting at 10:00 AM on Thursday, December 10. The deadline to apply for the TextXD Hackathon has been extended to December 5.

The event will conclude with a celebration and awards ceremony on Saturday, December 12, featuring a panel of distinguished judges including Janet Napolitano, Professor of Public Policy at Berkeley's Goldman School of Public Policy, former president of the University of California and former Secretary of Homeland Security under President Obama; and David Barstow, head of investigative reporting at the UC Berkeley Graduate School of Journalism, 4-time Pulitzer prize-winning journalist, and a former senior writer at The New York Times.
Miscellaneous Opportunities: Week of December 7, 2020

For more information, please visit our website.

- rstudio::global(2021)

https://rstudio.com/conference/

A 24-hour global virtual event with: 3 awesome keynotes; 30 talks with live Q&A with a diverse array of experts about a wide range topics of interest to data scientists; 30 rapid fire lightning talks.

30+ birds of a feather (BoF) sessions and social events.

The BoFs provide an opportunity to connect with people who are working on the same problems, in the same fields, and using the same tools.

- rstudio::global(2021) Diversity Scholarships

https://blog.rstudio.com/2020/11/30/diversity-scholarships/

This year, we have planned for 70 diversity scholarships available to individuals around the world who are a member of a group that is underrepresented at rstudio::conf(). These groups include people of color, those with disabilities, elders/older adults, LGBTQ folks, and women/minority genders.

Upcoming Workshops
Python Fundamentals Parts 1 - 4
Dec 7, 8, 9, 10 | 10:00 AM to 1:00 PM | Register for Zoom Link

This four-part, interactive workshop series is your complete introduction to programming Python for people with little or no previous programming experience. By the end of the series, you will be able to apply your knowledge of the basic principles of programming and data manipulation to a real-world social science application.
GeoPandas Parts 1-2
Dec 9 | 12:30:00 PM to 3:30:00 PM | Register for Zoom Link

Geospatial data are an important component of social science and humanities data visualization and analysis. This workshop will introduce basic methods for working with geospatial data in Python using GeoPandas, a relatively new Python library for working with geospatial data that has matured and stabilized in the last few years. In the workshop we will import geospatial data stored in shapefiles and CSV files into geopandas objects. We will explore methods for subsetting and spatial reshaping these objects. We will use geopandas methods for defining and transforming coordinate reference systems. Participants will also join tabular data to geospatial data and create maps based on the data values.

Stata Fundamentals Part 2-3
Dec 8, 9 | 9:00 AM to 12:00 PM | Register for Zoom Link

This three-part, interactive workshop series is your complete introduction to programming Python for people with little or no previous programming experience. By the end of the series, you will be able to apply your knowledge of the basic principles of programming and data manipulation to a real-world social science application. Parts 2-3 will focus on data analysis in Stata as well as programming in Stata.

Introduction to Bash + Github
Dec 11 | 2:00 PM to 5:00 PM | Register for Zoom Link

An introduction to programming basics in Bash and GitHub that are often assumed, but that you might have never had good instruction on! The first half of this workshop will introduce you to navigating your computer’s filesystem and basic Bash commands to remove the fear of working with the command line to give you the confidence to use it to increase your productivity.

The second half of this workshop will introduce you to Git, a powerful tool for keeping track of changes you make to the files in a project. You can use it to synchronize your work across computers, collaborate with others, and even deploy applications to the cloud. In this workshop, you will learn the basics to understand and use Git, including working with the popular "social coding" website, GitHub.

These are the last of our workshops for 2020!
URAP Spring Updates, Spring 2021

SURF - Summer Undergraduate Research and Fellowship Program

The Summer Undergraduate Research Fellowships, known as “SURF”, provides $5,000 stipends to students to carry out indepth research over the summer. There are a variety of program tracks within SURF, and each of them has different eligibility requirements. Some of the tracks are for students completing a senior thesis under faculty supervision (SURF L&S, Rose Hills Independent) while others are for students doing research in support of graduate students (SURF-SMART) or faculty (Rose Hills Experience). If you are interested in SURF, please attend an upcoming info session via Zoom - also listed on Facebook events. The deadline for the program is February 18, 2020 so now is the time to begin developing your application.

Haas Scholars Program--for all majors

Every year, the Haas Scholars Program funds 20 students from ALL MAJORS for up to $13,800 to carry out a capstone project in the summer preceding and during their final year on campus. Haas Scholars also receive guidance from faculty mentors (who also receive a stipend) and from a full-time staff member, membership in a close-knit interdisciplinary community of scholars, and connections to an alumni network of almost 500 members. Eligibility: 3.45+ UCB gpa, Graduating F ’21 or Spr ’22, and financial need (EFC <$26,000); undocumented and international students are eligible if they demonstrate the required level of need. Deadline 2/17/21; interested students should attend an upcoming info session and contact the Program Manager for an appointment.

The Judith Lee Stronach Baccalaureate Prize

The Stronach Baccalaureate Prize supports recent Cal graduates to undertake a public service, creative, or community-based research project in the year following graduation. Recipients are awarded up to $25,000 for projects that serve the public good and heighten awareness of issues of social consciousness. Application deadline: Monday, March 1, 2021. The dates and times of upcoming information sessions will be posted on the website. Interested students are highly encouraged to make an appointment with the program manager to discuss their project ideas.

UCLA URJP Accepting Research Paper Submissions, 12/15

CALL FOR UNDERGRADUATE RESEARCH PAPERS

Have you completed a research paper in a psychology-related field (i.e. psychology, cognitive science, neuroscience, linguistics)? Are you looking for a platform to publish your work?

If so, The Undergraduate Research Journal of Psychology at UCLA (URJP) WANTS YOU to submit your papers for our annual publication, expected to be released Spring 2021.

URJP is an organization dedicated to informing the community of psychological findings through research run by undergraduates from all universities. Last year, we received submissions ranging from local to international universities. URJP is one of the few established psychology journals that publishes undergraduate psychological research.

To submit, the papers must fulfill the requirements below:

- Original work completed by undergraduates (Includes senior honors theses, independent research, reviews, theoretical papers, and other scholarly writing)
- Never before been published

If you have not completed an independent research project, we still encourage you to apply by submitting a “literature review article” which does not require access to research data.

The deadline to submit papers is December 15, 2020 at 11:59 P.M. Multiple submissions from one author are welcome. If you would like to submit an article for consideration, please complete the following:

- Replace any identifying information (i.e. author name, institution) with empty brackets, to ensure anonymity within the selection process
Miscellaneous Opportunities: Week of December 7, 2020

- Visit our website's submission page, https://urjp.psych.ucla.edu/submissions/

- Once you have filled out the form (https://forms.gle/MLcnVHqnMMPKoRfo7) linked on the submission page, send the following in an email to psychjournal.ucla@gmail.com

  - In the body of the email, include the following information: (1) your full name, (2) full article title, (3) article type (i.e., literature review, research article), (4) your email address

More information regarding our submission criteria and types of articles accepted can be found on our website, https://urjp.psych.ucla.edu/. To view our prior publications, please visit our website at https://urjp.psych.ucla.edu/publications/.

If you have any questions or concerns, please contact us at psychjournal.ucla@gmail.com for further information. We look forward to reviewing your submissions!

UCSF Master of Science in Biomedical Imaging, 2/28/21

The UCSF Masters of Science in Biomedical Imaging (MSBI) program would like to announce that we are accepting Fall 2021 applications from November 18, 2020-February 28, 2021.

For those that may be interested, please feel free to visit the website or email (msbi@ucsf.edu). Please forward to those that may be interested.
The Master of Science in Biomedical Imaging (MSBI) program provides theoretical and practical exposure to all aspects of medical imaging technology. The program can be completed in one year of full time study and allows students to learn the foundations of medical imaging, explore how imaging is applied in medical practice, and perform independent research under the supervision of faculty that are leaders in this exciting field.

The Department of Radiology and Biomedical Imaging at UCSF features an outstanding faculty and is annually ranked amongst the top programs in the country for both research and training. MSBI students interact closely with faculty and have the opportunity to contribute to research activities in a wide array of applications ranging from image processing to the development of new molecular imaging agents. MSBI students commonly go on to MD and PhD programs, or may choose to work in industries that develop imaging related products or apply medical imaging in product development.

Come On Out - Japan’s 6th Annual Global English Camp Summer Internship Program

Attention students and recent graduates!

We are launching Come On Out - Japan’s 6th Annual Global English Camp Summer Internship Program and extending our invitation to top Universities and Japanese high school students for a cross-cultural learning experience.

We are currently seeking university students and recent graduates with native level English skills who are passionate about Japanese culture, gaining global experience, and mentoring others. They will be offered the opportunity to come to Japan for five weeks from mid-July to late August, 2021. Although this is an unpaid internship, the sponsor is providing certain expenses for each intern who participates in the six-week program. Airfare, lodging, meal and transportation subsidies will be provided. The program also offers optional Japanese language classes, field trips and an overnight trip. These additional opportunities are all designed to add cultural enrichment to your summer abroad experience.

This program is vastly different from any other traditional teaching position in Japan. Interns will facilitate English conversations with Japanese high school students on a variety of relevant global topics ranging from discussing the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals to their personal life missions. Interns will be able to extend mentorship to new students each week as well as form lifelong connections with their fellow interns inside and outside the classroom.

We do not have any Japanese fluency requirements. Come On Out - Japan accepts undergraduates, graduates and recently graduated students as well.
Applications are now open at http://www.comeonoutjapan.com! If you have additional questions regarding the program, please contact Come on Out - Japan directly at info@comeonoutjapan.com or via the inquiry tab on our website. Undergraduate Research Newsletter

Dear undergraduate students,

This is a copy of the Undergraduate Research Newsletter, pasted below, and also linked here, which we send out every two weeks. You are receiving it today because your advisor has forwarded it to you. However, if you would like to get it directly from us every two weeks (to not miss any late-breaking news), please fill out this short form to sign up for our listserv directly. Very early spring is the time to pounce on undergraduate research opportunities, which means right now is the best time to attend workshops to get oriented/gain key skills, figure out which programs will work for you. I hope to meet you soon in the workshops!

USC M.S. In Applied Psychology
USC M.S. in Applied Psychology

Global Learning Hub
Mental Health United Recruiting Members

My name is Ryan Cabote and I am a sophomore Psychology student and I recently started a student-run mental health organization called Mental Health United and we are currently looking for people to become apart of our team!

Given that, are you interested in working on projects to provide mental health resources to underserved communities? Do you want to help eliminate mental health disparities? If so, apply to become a part of the Mental Health United family! We currently have three team positions open that all pertain to different interests (e.g. Web Development and Writing). If you want to learn more, visit linktr.ee/mentalhealthunited.

Indeed, there are many other student-run mental health organizations out there, so what makes Mental Health United different from other student-run mental health organizations?

Integration. Our goal at the moment is to implement Mental Health First Aid into California Community Colleges, California State Universities, and the University of California system, in addition to other schools in California, and make the certification mandatory for all staff and students. Through integration, we are able to provide a tangible resource for the mental health community and essentially make Mental Health First Aid as common as Cardiopulmonary Resuscitation (CPR). After integrating training all throughout California, we aspire to widen our impact throughout the nation and eventually internationally.

Want to become apart of the change? Join today! Please do not hesitate to contact me if you have any questions or concerns at ryancabote808@gmail.com. Thank you for your time!
Apply to become a part of the team!

Available Positions

- Chief of Web Development (1 person)
- Technician (1 person)
- Chief Editor (1 person)

Simply Neuroscience Action Potential Advising Program Mentorship

Simply Neuroscience, a student-led non-profit organization works to expand interdisciplinary neuroscience education, outreach, and awareness for students. Over the past year, Simply Neuroscience has expanded to include a broader community of over 20,000 individuals spanning 49 U.S. states and 113 countries.

The recent launch of our Action Potential Advising Program (APAP) works to virtually connect young neuroscience students ("advisees") with older professionals ("advisors") to provide educational guidance and mentorship. The APAP’s mission is to bridge gaps in early neuroscience and psychology education through creating an international, centralized mentorship space that supports both STEM and humanities students.
