➤ Jacobs Winter Design Showcase, 12/11-12/19

Join the Jacobs Institute for Design Innovation for its semesterly showcase of student work, Wednesday, December 11 through Thursday, December 12 in Jacobs Hall. Featuring project displays and demos along with conversation and refreshments, our open house is an opportunity to meet student designers, explore new proposals, and join Jacobs Hall's interdisciplinary design community.

Over the course of two days, students will showcase work from more than 15 courses hosted at Jacobs Hall, student club projects, individual proposals, and our Innovation Catalysts grantees. With ideas spanning virtual reality, mobility, social impact, and critical art, the showcase will highlight the diversity of the design ecosystem at Jacobs Hall and Cal. All are welcome to attend — the showcase is free and open to the public.

➤ Emergency Rental Assistance Program, 12/13/19

...the Emergency Rental Assistance Program may be useful to you.

Funded by the Student Basic Needs Fee, the program helps undergraduate and graduate students with significant financial need meet their month's rent.

Before applying it is recommended that you review this document.

If the resources outlined in the document have been exhausted or not applicable to you, please apply to the Emergency Rental Assistance Program.

Please note: the application is open now but submissions will only be reviewed after December 1st. Each application is considered on a case-by-case basis. Students should expect to hear back from the Basic Needs Center staff about next steps within two business days of submitting an application. Please apply by December 13th if you need support meeting your rent for November or December.

If you would like help navigating the resources above, reach out to the Student Advocate's Office by emailing help@berkeleysao.org.

If you do not have stable housing for the next 48 hours, email basicneedssupport@berkeley.edu or visit the Basic Needs Center in the lower level of MLK Student Union (BNorth), Suite 72. The Basic Needs Center is open Monday-Friday from 9AM-6PM.

Please share this with message widely. Wishing you all a safe break, celebrating a history and presence of Indigenous resilience.

➤ UCLA's new Ph.D. Program in Communication, 12/15/19

UCLA's new Ph.D. Program in Communication is now accepting applications for its first class starting in Fall 2020!

Whether you are looking for a graduate program that will expand your opportunities into academia, or are planning to pursue a career in industries requiring advanced analytical research experience, this program is designed for you.

UCLA's new Ph.D. Program in Communication will offer students rigorous interdisciplinary training from world-renowned faculty at the forefront of communication research. The program will center on three main areas of study: Communication and Cognition, Computational Communication, and Political Communication.

As a student of this program, you will

- Design research projects that will address inquiries impacting the field and enrich your personal academic development
- Receive close guidance from a faculty mentor who will support your first and second year projects, and your Ph.D. dissertation
- Be trained in cutting-edge social science methodologies that will hone your empirical skills, knowledge, and analysis
- Gain proximity to technology and communication industries in the vibrant and global city of Los Angeles
- Build a resume that makes you highly sought after within both academia and industry

The application is now live!

The deadline to apply is December 15, 2019. Learn more about the program, funding, and the application process at <https://comm.ucla.edu/graduate/program>. The site also provides an overview of our UCLA Communication department faculty and their groundbreaking research projects in the communication and technology field.

➤ BAMPFA's upcoming film series, 12/20/19-02/28/19

BAMPFA's upcoming film series, Next Door to Darkness: The Films of David Lynch

Screening this winter, this series celebrates the unique body of work of American filmmaker David Lynch. Drawing on, and often combining, the aesthetics of Surrealism, film noir, psychodrama, soap opera, and science fiction, Lynch has created a universe where characters struggle to do the right thing despite being compelled by external and internal forces that threaten their moral, psychological, and physical well-being. This retrospective of Lynch's work for the big screen allows the opportunity to explore his singular vision!

➤ Regional Discussion on Sexual Assault and Sexual Harassment, 01/08/2020

The Department of the Navy and The University of New Mexico are pleased to announce A Regional Discussion on Sexual Assault and Sexual Harassment at America's Colleges, Universities and Service Academies: Achieving Cultural Change Through Data and An Evaluation Mindset, set for February 6, 2020. The joint conference will be held in the Student Union Building (SUB), The University of New Mexico, Albuquerque, New Mexico.

Academic studies related to the prevention of sexual assault and sexual harassment are sought to participate in a poster session during this event.

The purpose of the event is to sustain the conversation following the successful National Discussion and The State University of New York Regional Discussion on Sexual Assault and Sexual Harassment at America's Colleges, Universities, and Service Academies, hosted at the United States Naval Academy in April and September 2019. Leading into 2020, this regional discussion demonstrates our shared commitment to eliminating sexual assault and sexual harassment from our institutions.

The intended audience for these sessions include College and University Presidents, Chancellors, and Provosts, Vice Presidents for Student Affairs, Directors of college/university/service academy sexual violence programs, Title IX coordinators, Service sexual assault and sexual harassment program managers, Senior Military Leaders and Service Academy Superintendents. Planning is ongoing for additional discussions in other regions of the country.

For poster preparation guidelines and submission visit, <https://www.secnv.navy.mil/sapro/REGIONAL-DISCUSSION-ON-SEXUAL-ASSAULT-AND-SEXUAL-HARASSMENT/Pages/Call-for-Studies-2020.aspx>, for more information.

➤ Fall 2020 Berkeley MDes – Masters of Design Program, 01/10/2020

Our newly launched Masters of Design program is accepting applications for the fall 2020 cohort. Visit the MDes site to learn more about application deadlines, upcoming info-sessions, and up-to-date news on the developing program: <https://design.berkeley.edu/>

Overview

The MDes program at UC Berkeley is a studio-based, on campus program. Over three semesters (fall, spring, and a second fall), you will complete a total of nine required core courses, two technical electives, and one additional elective to meet a minimum of 38 units before graduating in December. In the summer between the first and second years of the program, you are encouraged to pursue a professional internship.

People

Courses in the MDes are led by UC Berkeley faculty and lecturers, as well as industry experts covering a range of design practices. Together, the faculty bring expertise in topics ranging from human-computer interaction to sustainable 3D printing technologies, and represent professional experience in companies including IDEO, Tellart, Google, and more.

Career Paths

The MDes prepares you to work in creative and technical roles for designing products, services and environments. As the world sees rapid change enabled by emerging technologies, our graduates are expected to work in an expanding set of roles at the intersection of design, policy, and activism. Fostering domain expertise, a toolkit of design and technical skills, and a grounding in the Bay Area's rich design ecosystem, the MDes provides powerful preparation for high-impact design innovators.

➤ Fung Fellowship Applications Open, 2/21/19

What is the Fung Fellowship?

The Fung Fellowship is a unique opportunity for rising juniors to create innovative health and wellness solutions to address real-world challenges alongside our community and industry partners. Fung Fellows utilize the iterative human-centered design process, public health principles, and emerging technology.

As a Fung Fellow you will:

- Explore the Health + Tech space
- Experience the design process from prototype to product
- Embed in communities to co-create with them
- Establish yourself as a young leader in an emerging field
- Selected Fung Fellows attend a 3-unit course each semester, are supported in a summer internship, and have the opportunity to apply to a second year honors program.

Required Qualifications:

- Registered student at UC Berkeley
- Rising Junior (current Sophomore standing) with a passion for health, wellness, social impact, design, and/or technology

How to Apply:

Learn more about the program at: <http://fungfellows.berkeley.edu>

➤ Prizes and Honor Program 19-20

The Prizes Program at UC Berkeley (prizes@berkeley.edu) is an important forum for rewarding creative expression and scholarly achievement by Berkeley's finest students. Winners receive both recognition and a cash prize, which is coordinated with the winner's financial aid package. Prize competitions are open to students of any major. Successful, even prominent, artists and poets in our society found that winning an award at Berkeley was a pivotal experience in their artistic careers. Prizes are administered under the direction of the Academic Senate Committee on Prizes. Copies of the essays and poetry submissions chosen to receive prizes are archived at the Bancroft Library at the end of each year.

FINANCIAL AID AND SCHOLARSHIPS OFFICE

Prizes Program

The Prizes Program at UC Berkeley is an important forum for rewarding creative expression and scholarly achievement by Berkeley's finest students. Winners receive both recognition and a cash prize, which is coordinated with the winner's financial aid package, if any. Copies of the winning essays and poetry are archived at the Bancroft Library at the end of each year. Prize competitions are mostly open to both undergraduate and graduate students of any major; a few competitions are for undergraduates only. Prizes are administered under the direction of the Academic Senate Committee on Prizes.

Deadlines for most contests are from November through March. Please see the Prizes website for details about each prize, specific deadlines, and how to submit entries.

COMPETITIVE PRIZES: GENERAL RULES

financialaid.berkeley.edu/prizes-general-rules

- Please type your submission.
- Please only print one-sided.
- Your submission needs to be anonymous. On the front of your manuscript, in the upper-right-hand corner, please include:
 - Name of the contest
 - The last four digits of your student identification number (SID) on each page
 - The total number of pages that you are submitting
- Only write on one side of each page
- Please complete the UC Berkeley Prizes and Honors Office Form and submit it in person, along with your entry, to 210 Sproul Hall. Download the form at financialaid.berkeley.edu/prizes-general-rules. You will need to show a Cal photo ID card when you submit your entry.
- You need to be enrolled full-time in a degree-granting program for at least one regular semester of the academic year (not including Summer Sessions). Filing for a degree does not constitute enrollment for that academic year. Visiting students are not eligible to apply for prizes.
- Entries to the writing contests, with the exception of the Roselyn Schneider Eisner Prize in Poetry and Prose, may not include work that has previously won prizes in these or other campus contests.
- Any prize may be withheld if, in the opinion of the judges, no entrant or submission merits the award.
- You may make only one entry to each contest.
- Submitting your work to a University prize contest in no way limits your subsequent sale and publication of the work. However, work that you have previously published, with the exception of work that has appeared solely in campus publications, is not eligible.
- We are not responsible for possible loss or damage of your manuscript. Your submission will not be returned; please retain a copy for your records. Winning submissions will be filed in the University Archives, Bancroft Library.
- You may enter more than one contest, but may not submit the same manuscript or portions of the same manuscript to more than one contest. If you submit the same manuscript or portions of the same manuscript to more than one contest, those entries will be disqualified.
- In the event that two or more contributions of approximately the same merit are submitted for any prize, the Committee on Prizes reserves the right to apportion the award.
- Any specific requirement expressed in connection with any of the prizes prevails over the general rules.
- Only write on one side of each page

➤ PhD in Urban Education Policy at USC Rossier

USC Rossier PhD in Urban Education Policy – Program Brochure

The PhD in Urban Education Policy program trains students to become scholars and researchers. It is a funded four year, on campus program and students work as research assistants under the guidance of faculty mentors. Prospective students can find a tremendous amount of helpful information through the below links and of course they can contact me anytime. We have 4 concentrations which include Educational Psychology, Higher Education, K12 Education Policy and Teacher Education.

Our 2019 first-year cohort consists of 42% first-generation college students. Furthermore, our first-year students identify as 25% Black or African American, 25% Hispanic or Latinx, 25% White, 17% Asian or Pacific Islander, and 8% Two or More Races.

➤ The Fall 2019 LEP Global Book Club

We are thrilled to invite students to join our Fall 2019 LEP Global Book Club! Each semester, we expand our perspectives by engaging with literature from around the world. As we join the campus in commemorating 400 Years of Resistance to Slavery and Injustice, this semester we will be reading Zora Neale Hurston's Barracoon: The Story of the Last "Black Cargo."

Written in 1931 and published just last year, Barracoon chronicles Hurston's conversations with Cudjo Kossula Lewis, one of the last survivors of the Atlantic Slave trade. By staying true to Kossula's spoken vernacular, Hurston provides an authentic and intimate look at his life—from his upbringing in West Africa, to his horrific experience crossing the Middle Passage, to his significant role in founding Africatown. This timely book gives us the opportunity to examine the lasting legacy of slavery and recognize the African American community's centuries of resistance.

➤ Graduate Student Opportunity at Penn State University

Pennsylvania State University Child Maltreatment Solutions Network
PhD in Human Development and Family Studies

Are you interested in examining how child maltreatment effects the health and development of individuals as they develop across the lifespan in the contexts of relationships, families, schools, and communities? Are you interested in studying the role of prevention or treatment programs to reduce risks of experiencing maltreatment or diminishing its negative effects on later development? Do you want to have a positive impact on the community systems involved in addressing the complex issues of child abuse and neglect?

As a result of our P50 Capstone Center for Child Maltreatment Research and Training grant from the National Institute of Child Health and Human Development (NICHD; PI: Noll), the Child Maltreatment Solutions Network is able to offer several fully funded slots for new graduate students in Human Development and Family Studies (HDFS). Child Maltreatment Solutions Network faculty in the HDFS PhD program (Jennie Noll, Chad Shenk, and Christian Connell) are currently accepting graduate students for the coming year. Information about the Center, and about faculty interests can also be found on the Solutions Network website (www.solutionsnetwork.psu.edu).

Potential applicants are encouraged to contact and indicate interest in working with the following:

Jennie Noll: jgn3@psu.edu

Chad Shenk: ces140@psu.edu

Christian Connell: cmc128@psu.edu

Visit <http://hhd.psu.edu/hdfs/Graduate-Education> for more information.

➤ Yale Ph.D. Program in Behavioral Marketing

The PhD program in Behavioral Marketing at Yale focuses on how individuals think and behave in consumer-relevant domains.

The program of study is inter-disciplinary, drawing from the fields of consumer behavior, social psychology, cognitive psychology, decision research, and behavioral economics. Faculty interests cover a variety of topics including:

- Judgment and Decision-Making
- Heuristics and Biases
- Attitudes and Persuasion
- Motivation
- Goals
- Cognition
- Emotions

A small number of students are accepted into the PhD Program in Behavioral Marketing each year. Students are encouraged to pursue research collaborations with multiple faculty, and to tailor their program of study to match their own unique interests.

NEW JOINT CONCENTRATION IN MARKETING AND PSYCHOLOGY:

PhD students admitted to the Behavioral Marketing program can apply to pursue a joint doctoral concentration in Psychology and Marketing. The primary expectation of Ph.D. students admitted to the program is that they (in collaboration with faculty members from both the Department of Psychology and Marketing department) develop a project spanning topics in Psychology and Consumer Behavior.

The PhD in Behavioral Marketing is a research degree that prepares students for academic positions at top research universities. The program has an excellent placement record for PhD students, many of whom have gone on to secure tenure-track positions at top research institutions including Stanford, Northwestern, and Columbia.

For more information on admissions, please visit our website here.

Jan 13th 9:30-4:30 Growing Up in a Digital World: The Intersection of CSEC + Technology Lincoln, 1266 14th St., Oakland This 1-day training focuses on the intersection of CSEC and technology. The Internet has opened the door to CSEC recruitment, so its crucial providers are continually engaging in dialogue with youth about technology. The training will focus on the dangers of cell phones, social media, cyber bullying, sexting, and online gaming. The trainers will also discuss safety strategies for each of these categories and conversation starters with youth. <https://www.eventbrite.com/e/alameda-the-intersection-of-csec-technology-tickets-69014675753>

Jan 21st - 22nd 8:30-4:30 “The Empowerment Project” (CSE Intervention) Facilitator Training Oakland City Church, 2735 MacArthur Blvd, Oakland “The Empowerment Project” is a CSE intervention curriculum. It consists of 4 workbooks with 5 chapters in each workbook. The curriculum is based on the Stages of Change model. The earlier workbooks are focused on helping youth exit exploitation while the later workbooks are focused on adjusting to life outside of the commercial sex industry. Throughout the workbooks, youth will hear from CSE survivors about what they learned on their journeys. The two-day facilitator training will teach participants how to facilitate the curriculum with youth and young adults. This is a two-day training. CSEC 101 and 102 are prerequisites. <https://www.eventbrite.com/e/alameda-the-empowerment-project-csec-intervention-facilitator-training-tickets-73014926611>

Jan 23rd 9:30-4:30 Taking a Deeper Look at Human Trafficking: The Intersection of CSEC + Race/Ethnicity Allan Temple, 8501 International Blvd, Oakland This is a 1-day training that provides the historical context of human trafficking. Participants will learn about the historical oppression and trauma of ethnic groups and how this provides the back drop of human trafficking. Participants will also learn how to approach youth, families, and communities in culturally competent ways. <https://www.eventbrite.com/e/alameda-taking-a-deeper-look-at-human-trafficking-the-intersectionof-csec-raceethnicity-tickets-72592452981>

Jan 24th 8:30-4:30 An Overview of Child Labor Trafficking Lincoln, 1266 14th St., Oakland While the larger human trafficking narrative has focused on child sex trafficking, it’s also important to discuss child labor trafficking. This training will provide an overview of child labor trafficking in the United States, including what it is, risk factors, and pathways of entry. Participants will also learn about warning signs someone is being labor trafficked and recommendations to support labor trafficking survivors. <https://www.eventbrite.com/e/an-overview-of-child-labor-trafficking-tickets-75395438787>

➤ Haas Scholars Research Fellowship Information Sessions

Each year, the Haas Scholars Program brings together twenty highly qualified, academically talented undergraduates with financial need to build a supportive intellectual community during their final year at UC-Berkeley. Haas Scholars come from all walks of life and every major on campus, but they are united by their desire to strive for excellence--both in their individual academic pursuits, and as an interdisciplinary cohort. International students and undocumented students are welcome and encouraged to apply.

Applicants are evaluated primarily on the merit and originality of their proposal for an independent research or creative project that will serve as the basis for a senior or honors thesis. Once selected, Haas Scholars receive close mentoring from members of the UC-Berkeley faculty, seminars and workshops to assist them in the research and writing process, the opportunity to present their work at a professional conference, and up to $13,800 each in financial support.

If you are considering applying to Haas Scholars for summer 2020, we encourage you to attend an hour-long info session offered on the dates below. All info sessions will be held in Durant Hall, Room 9, unless otherwise noted.
