Spring 2019 Labor Center Major Events

Labor Regimes of Indenture: A Global Overview of Migrant Domestic Work
Wednesday, Feb 6, 2019, 12-1:30pm
Location: 554 Barrows Hall, UC Berkeley
A Talk by Prof. Rhacel Parreñas, Sociology and Gender & Sexuality Studies, USC
In Conversation with Prof. Christian Paiz, Ethnic Studies, UC Berkeley
Across the globe, migrant domestic workers are unfree workers whose legal residency is contingent on their continued employment as a live-in worker with a designated sponsor. This talk examines the politics of their indenture. Providing a macro and micro perspective, it begins with a global overview of the incorporation of migrant domestic workers as indentured workers in key host countries in the Americas, Asia, Europe and the Middle East, explains the cultural logic that undergirds their indenture, and then describes the conditions of domestic work in the ‘worst destination’ of the United Arab Emirates, where absconding is illegal and quitting one’s job requires a sponsor’s permission. This talk foregrounds the indenture of domestic workers so as to interrogate dominant paradigms for thinking about contemporary unfreedoms; from human trafficking to slavery, identifies them to primarily follow Kantian and Marxian notions of unfreedom; and then addresses the limits of these liberal theories of unfreedom in explaining the indenture of domestic workers in the UAE.

UC Berkeley Labor Center Information Session: Labor and Climate Policy
Friday, February 15, 2019, 12-2pm
Location: Goldman School of Public Policy, Room 250 GSPP West (1893 LeRoy Ave)
Co-Sponsored by: UC Berkeley Labor Center, Goldman School of Public Policy, Labor Policy Group, and Environmental Policy Group

Come learn about the climate policy work that the UC Berkeley Labor Center and their labor and community partners are working on. This session will host a panel of leaders from institutions like SEIU, Blue Green Alliance, and the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (IBEW) to talk about the connection between climate change and its impact on workers and the industries they work in. Participants will learn about how unions and environmental justice groups can work together to ensure that public policy advances equity in California climate policy. Lunch will be provided.

This event is free and open to the public. Please RSVP through Eventbrite or Facebook.

Film Screening: City Rising
Wednesday, Feb 20, 2019, 12-1:30pm
Location: UC Berkeley Labor Center, 2521 Channing Way, Berkeley

Join us for part 1 of a 2-part documentary, City Rising, which examines gentrification--its historical roots, economic role and social consequences. This documentary highlights individuals facing discrimination but fighting to change policy and improve upward mobility for their communities. Refreshments will be provided. Space is ADA accessible.

This event is free and open to the public. Please RSVP through Eventbrite or Facebook.

Film Screening: City Rising: The Informal Economy
Wednesday, Feb 27, 2019, 12-1:30pm
Location: UC Berkeley Labor Center, 2521 Channing Way, Berkeley
Co-sponsored by: UC Berkeley Labor Center and Center on Wage and Employment Dynamics (CWED)

Join us for part 2 of a 2-part documentary, City Rising: The Informal Economy, which follows four California workers organizing to find pathways for legalization and protection. The documentary follows the lives of a street vendor in Boyle Heights, a truck driver in Long Beach, a farm-working family in Coachella and an organizer in Oakland fighting for jobs for formerly incarcerated people. Featured in the film, Sylvia Allegretto from CWED will join us in discussion after the screening. Refreshments will be provided. Space is ADA accessible. This event is free and open to the public. Please RSVP through Eventbrite or Facebook.

Art for Social Change x UCB Labor Center – Screen Printing Workshops
Wednesday, Feb 27 2019, 6:30-7:30pm; Additional studio hours: March 13; March 27; April 3; April 10; April 17; April 24
Location: Multicultural Community Center, Martin Luther King Jr. Student Union 2495 Bancroft Way, Suite #220
Co-sponsored by: Art for Social Change and UC Berkeley Labor Center
Are you interested in making art, social justice and civic engagement? Join us on February 27th, 2019, to learn about activism through screen printing and how to screen print! If you'd like to participate, you must attend the first meeting; the subsequent meetings are optional open studio days. There will also be an opportunity to present your artwork in an exhibition at the UC Berkeley Labor Center. No experience necessary.

Book Talk: From Coors to California: David Sickler and the New Working Class
Tuesday, Feb 28, 2019, 5:00-7pm
Location: UC Berkeley Labor Center, 2521 Channing Way, Berkeley
Sponsored by: UC Berkeley Labor Center
Join us for a conversation with David Sickler, one of the most creative and successful union organizers in the country. Starting out working on an assembly line in Colorado’s Coors Brewery, Sickler went on to lead breakthrough campaigns that transformed the US labor movement and to become an influential labor advocate within Los Angeles City Hall. This book captures some of Sickler’s historic campaign victories, from his leadership of the national Coors Boycott to unprecedented organizing drives with immigrant workers, often in direct challenge to the leadership of US labor. The revitalization of the California labor movement is integrally linked to this new wave of immigrant workers, and it was Sickler who built the foundation for organizing the new working class.
This event is free and open to the public. Please RSVP through Eventbrite or Facebook.

Book Talk: Dockworker Power: Race and Activism in Durban and the San Francisco Bay Area
Tuesday, March 12, 2019, 4 - 5:30 pm
Location: Dwinelle Hall, Rm. 370
Co-Sponsored by: American Cultures Center, History Department, Ethnic Studies Library, Office of Undergraduate Research & Scholarships, Institute for Research on Labor & Employment, Center for Labor Research & Education, and Geography Department
Dr. Peter Cole discusses his highly anticipated book - Dockworker Power. Often missed in commentary on today's globalizing economy, workers in the world’s ports can harness their role, at a strategic choke point, to promote their labor rights and social justice causes. Peter Cole brings such overlooked experiences to light in an eye-opening comparative study of Durban, South Africa, and the San Francisco Bay Area, California. Pathbreaking research reveals how unions effected lasting change in some of the most far-reaching struggles of modern times. First, dockworkers in each city drew on longstanding radical traditions to promote racial equality. Second, they persevered when a new technology—container ships—sent a shockwave of layoffs through the industry. Finally, their commitment to black internationalism and leftist politics sparked transnational work stoppages to protest apartheid and authoritarianism. Dockworker Power brings to light surprising parallels in the experiences of dockers half a world away from each other. It also offers a new perspective on how workers can change their conditions and world. Peter Cole is a professor of history at Western Illinois University and a Research Associate in the Society, Work and Development Institute (SWOP), University of the Witwatersrand. He is the author of Wobblies on the Waterfront: Interracial Unionism in Progressive-Era Philadelphia.

Latinx Labor in California
Monday, April 1, 2019, 12-1pm
Location: Latinx Research Center, 2547 Channing Way, Berkeley
Co-sponsored by: Latinx Research Center and UC Berkeley Labor Center
Professor Lilia Soto, a visiting post-doctoral fellow from University of Wyoming is going to be presenting new research on gender and Napa Valley labor and Ivon Padilla-Rodriguez, a visiting dissertation research fellow at the Latinx Research Center, and a history doctoral student at Columbia University researching invisible child labor in the 1930s-60s. Professor Soto's first book, released earlier this fall, focused on the effects of migration from Mexico to California on young girls.

Book Talk: Blue and Green: The Drive for Justice at America's Port with Scott Cummings
Thursday, April 25, 2019, 5:30-7pm
Location: UC Berkeley Labor Center, 2521 Channing Way, Berkeley
Sponsored by: UC Berkeley Labor Center
In his book Blue and Green, Scott Cummings examines a campaign by the labor and environmental movements to transform trucking at America's largest port in Los Angeles. Tracing the history of struggle in an industry at the epicenter of the global supply chain, Cummings shows how an unprecedented “blue-green” alliance mobilized to improve working conditions for low-income drivers and air quality in nearby communities. The campaign for “clean trucks,” Cummings argues, teaches much about how social movements can use law to challenge inequality in a global era.
This event is free and open to the public. Please RSVP through Eventbrite or Facebook.

Event: Art for Social Change x UCB Labor Center - May Day Art Exhibition & Reception
May 2019: Date and time TBD
Location: UC Berkeley Labor Center, 2521 Channing Way, Berkeley

➤ Fung Fellowship Application Now Open, 2/8/19

Fung Fellowship for Wellness and Technology Innovation:
The Fung Fellowship is a unique opportunity for rising juniors to create innovative health and wellness solutions to address real-world challenges alongside our community and industry partners. Fung Fellows utilize the iterative human-centered design process, public health principles, and emerging technology, such as VR, AI, machine learning, and blockchain.

As a Fung Fellow you will:
- Explore the Health + Tech space
- Experience the design process from prototype to product
- Embed in communities to co-create with them
- Establish yourself as a young leader in an emerging field

Selected Fung Fellows attend a 3-unit course each semester, are supported in a summer internship, and have the opportunity to apply to a second year honors program.

Required Qualifications:
- Registered student at UC Berkeley
- Rising Junior (current Sophomore standing) with a passion for health, wellness, social impact, design, and/or technology

How to Apply:
- Learn more about the program at: https://fungfellows.berkeley.edu/
- Please apply by completing the application here: https://tinyurl.com/fungfellowapp19
• Deadline to apply: February 8th, 2019 11:59pm PST.

➢ Spring Maker Pass General Registration, 2/8/19

The Maker Pass program, which grants semesterly equipment access to the CITRIS Invention Lab and the Jacobs makerspace, will soon reach capacity for the semester.

Because of this, Maker Pass general registration for the spring semester will close at 5:00pm on Friday, February 8th. If you are interested in getting a spring Maker Pass, please visit makerpass.jacobshall.org and complete all of the three steps described before the deadline*!
To learn more about all of the resources that would come with your Maker Pass, read this overview or attend the open house tonight (see my previous community list email for more information).

*Some groups are exempt from the deadline and may continue to register for a Maker Pass at anytime in the semester. This includes students enrolled in Jacobs-affiliated courses (see list here) and Research Maker Pass holders. Updated instructions for such groups will be posted at makerpass.jacobshall.org after February 8th.

If you have any questions, please contact jacobsinstitute@berkeley.edu.

➢ Makerspace open house, building tours, design events at Jacobs Hall, 2/2-8/19

Drop-in building tours
Every Monday/Wednesday/Friday from 1/23 to 2/8 | 12:10-12:30PM
Take a guided tour of the Jacobs makerspace and teaching studios to learn about the many ways that you can explore design and technology innovation here. Tours meet in the west lobby of Jacobs Hall and will start on Berkeley time.

Upcoming pop-up workshops
February 2: Introduction to Solidworks, led by Robobears
February 4: PiE on the Road, led by Pioneers in Engineering
February 6 & 13: After Effects Workshop (2-part series) led by Hélène Park, Motion Designer at Google
February 6, 13, 20: Designing Your First Portfolio (3-part series), led by Purin Phanichphant, Lecturer at the Jacobs Institute
February 8: Rocket Design and Propulsion, led by Space Enterprise at Cal
For full event details, visit our Facebook page. For the full semester's lineup of pop-up workshops, visit the Jacobs website.

➢ UCSF STAR Center-TEACCH Autism Program Training, 2/11-13/19

We are happy to announce that we are now able to offer a CME/CEU credit option for the 3-day TEACCH Autism Program training at the UCSF STAR Center, February 11-13, 2019. This credit option is included in the price of registration.

Attend a 3-day TEACCH® Autism Program training workshop in February 2019 at the UCSF STAR Center!

The TEACCH Autism Program is based at the University of North Carolina and offers a variety of training and consultation to professionals who work with individuals with Autism Spectrum Disorder (ASD). It is an evidence-based model aimed at meeting the clinical, training, and research needs of individuals of all ages and skill level with ASD, as well as their family members across the world. This TEACCH training workshop will be offered through the UCSF STAR Center for ASD and NDDs. We are excited to have this opportunity to welcome two TEACCH trainers, from the University of North Carolina TEACCH Autism Program, to lead the workshop on February 11-13, 2019 at UCSF.

More information regarding the application and the registration fee for this workshop, can be found at the following STAR Center training website: https://star.ucsf.edu/teacch%C2%AE-training.

Additional information about the TEACCH Autism Program can be found at the UNC School of Medicine website; https://teacch.com/trainings/. Please feel free to share this announcement with other community members that may be interested!

Please do not hesitate to reach out directly if you have any questions about this TEACCH opportunity at the UCSF STAR Center in February 2019.

➢ Gardner Public Service Fellowship ($32,500), 2/13/19

John Gardner Fellowship
The John Gardner Fellowship selects six Fellows during the spring semester from among the graduating classes at UC Berkeley and Stanford University and provides each a $32,500 stipend to work in the governmental or nonprofit organization that most closely fits their public sector interests. Past fellows have been placed at the Department of State, the Council of Economic Advisers, and the Louisiana Capital Assistance Center. Fellows are matched with a senior-level mentor during their 10-month fellowship. The goal of the John Gardner Fellowship is to inspire UC Berkeley’s and Stanford’s best students to pursue a career in public service. We encourage students from all majors to apply.

Wildlands Studies Information Session, 2/14/19

Thursday, Feb. 14th at 4 p.m.
575 Mc Cone Hall
UC Berkeley

Wildlands Studies field projects provide students with the opportunity to join backcountry study teams as working field associates, studying environmental impact assessment, environmental policy, geologic, climatic and topographic factors that support various habitats, and the relationships between environments and culture. Most participants are undergraduates who join us on site from all over North America and Canada. Each program grants 5-15 units of upper division semester credit from Western Washington University-Huxley College of the Environment that easily transfers to UC Berkeley.

Project teams consist of 8-16 participants working with a course instructor who provides onsite instruction and directs all field study activities. This season, students can choose among fifteen wildlife, wildland and cultural ecology field studies searching for solutions to environmental and cultural challenges. Field studies take place in: Australia, Banff (Canada), Belize, Big Sur (California), California Channel Islands, Chile, Cuba, Ecuador, Iceland, Nepal, New Zealand, Peru, South Africa, Thailand, and Yellowstone. Information on all of our programs is available on our website: www.wildlandsstudies.com. Our email address is wildlands@wildlandsstudies.com.

Please join us at the Student Information Session and learn how to participate.
Be a GBO Leader for 2019, 2/17/19

Become a Golden Bear Orientation Leader and leave your mark! If you are interested in helping UC Berkeley’s newly admitted undergraduates — while growing your skills in leadership, mentorship, and community development — please consider becoming a GBO Leader.

Student Tech Fund Fast Track Project Proposals, 2/18/19

The Student Technology Fund (STF) proposal submission process is now open for the Spring 2019 Fast Track Project cycle. The deadline to submit project proposals is Monday, February 18, 2019.

ELIGIBILITY
Any student, staff or faculty member of the University of California, Berkeley is eligible to submit a proposal for consideration by the Student Technology Fund committee. Individual students must obtain a fiscal sponsor to administer awarded funds, such as a registered student group, ASUC, Graduate Assembly, academic department, or other functional unit.

ALLOWABLE COSTS
This fee, assessed at $51 per semester for seven years, provides funding to secure volume software licensing for students (e.g. Microsoft Office, Adobe Creative Cloud, Matlab, Lynda.com). It also provides funding to support additional student technology services and initiatives. Fee funds are prohibited from subsidizing core information technology infrastructure, and intellectual property developed as a result of STF support is owned by the University. Funding categories include:

- Applications and Software Development
- Commercial Software Licensing
- Hardware and Technology Equipment Acquisition
- Investigative and Planning Projects
- Technology Events
- Training, Support, and Access to Technology Programs

APPLICATION AND REVIEW PROCESS

- Before submitting a proposal abstract, please review the funding guidelines.
- Proposals are due February 18, 2019 via online application, which will then be reviewed by the Student Technology Fund Committee.
- Proposals will be reviewed in March and April, with the intent of announcing decisions in May and allocating funds in June 2019.

For questions and additional information, visit the Student Tech Fund website or email techfund@berkeley.edu.

UCDC: Spend a semester in Washington, D.C, 2/21/19

Whether you’re studying politics and government, art history, public health, economics, legal studies, etc., UCDC is an amazing chance for Berkeley students to gain invaluable experience in the professional world.

Each fall and spring semester, UCDC sends ~30 Berkeley students to live, learn, and intern in Washington D.C. alongside students from across the UC system. Berkeley students take on prestigious internships with a variety of organizations, businesses, museums, government agencies and take 2 classes for UC Berkeley approved academic credit.

Recent participants have said: "UCDC was a transformative experience," and "UCDC was my best semester at Berkeley!"

Applications for the Fall 2019 cohort are due on Thursday, February 21st at 4PM. Applications must be submitted both online and in person at 2422 Dwinelle Hall.

Upcoming INFORMATION SESSIONS (9 Durant Hall)

Global Poverty & Practice Minor Info Sessions, 2/28/19

The GPP Minor introduces students to the theoretical frameworks, methods, and practical skills necessary to engage with global poverty and inequality in effective ways.

The minor requires five courses and a "Practice Experience." This experience is a central component of the minor in which students partner with domestic or international non-governmental or community organizations, government agencies, or other poverty or development programs, on various dimensions of poverty action – from food security and sustainable technologies to economic justice and grass-roots political power. The combination of the coursework for the minor and this real world experience allows students to connect theories and practices of poverty action. Funding is available to support students’ practice experiences.

The deadline to declare the minor this semester is Wednesday, March 6th. There are no prerequisites required to declare.

The Declaration Form and additional information about the minor can be found at: http://blumcenter.berkeley.edu/gppminor.

Information Sessions about the minor will be held in Blum Hall 100A/B (Ground Floor) at the following times:

- Friday, January 25th, 12 - 1 PM
- Tuesday, January 29th, 5 - 6 PM
- Monday, February 4th, 11 - 12 PM
- Wednesday, February 13th 1 - 2 PM
- Friday, February 22nd, 1 - 2 PM
- Thursday, February 28th, 5 - 6 PM

Contact gppminor@berkeley.edu with any questions.

Summer of Research in Chiang Mai, 2/28/19

UC Berkeley and the University of Copenhagen, in collaboration with Chiang Mai University, are offering Borderland: Critical Approaches to Field Research in the Global South, a field course in Chiang Mai, Thailand.

This summer, work with scholars, communities, and organizations to address issues of local, regional, and global transformation, and deepen your understanding of critical research approaches and processes. For a student perspective on the program, check out the video from the 2018 course.

The Green Initiative Fund (TGIF) Now Accepting Proposals, 4/5/19

THE GREEN INITIATIVE FUND (TGIF)

- Students, faculty members, and/or staff members of the University of California, Berkeley are encouraged to submit a proposal for consideration by The Green Initiative Fund (TGIF) Committee. TGIF funds projects that focus on environmental sustainability and environmental justice. Along with a grant application, individuals or groups of applicants must submit necessary project approvals and estimated metrics for their proposed project's sustainability impact on campus. TGIF hosts a fall mini-grant cycle for projects up to $5,000 and a larger spring grant cycle for projects $5,000 or above. The spring grant cycle has an optional early abstract deadline to receive feedback on your project idea, then a required final abstract deadline, upon which TGIF’s Committee will invite applicants to submit a final application for review. Check out our Facebook page for more updates on TGIF grant-writing workshops and informational sessions that will help you develop your ideas into strong grant proposals!

- Spring Grant Deadlines:
  - Early Abstracts: Friday, February 1st, 2019 by 5PM

Summer Institute in Political Psychology (SIPP) 2019, 8/4-24/19

THE 2019 SUMMER INSTITUTE IN POLITICAL PSYCHOLOGY
at Stanford University from August 4 – August 24, 2019

Applications are being accepted now for the 23rd Annual Summer Institute in Political Psychology, to be held at Stanford University August 4-24, 2019. The Summer Institute offers 3 weeks of intensive training in political psychology. Political psychology is an exciting and thriving field that explores the origins of political behavior and the causes of political events, with a special focus on the psychological mechanisms at work.

Research findings in political psychology advance basic theories of politics and are an important basis for political decision-making in practice.

SIPP was founded in 1991 at Ohio State University, and Stanford has hosted SIPP since 2005, with support from Stanford University and from the National Science Foundation[AS1]. Hundreds of participants have attended SIPP during these years.

The 2019 SIPP curriculum is designed to (1) provide broad exposure to theories, empirical findings, and research traditions; (2) illustrate successful cross-disciplinary research and integration; (3) enhance methodological pluralism; and (4) strengthen networks among scholars from around the world.

SIPP activities will include lectures by world class faculty, discussion groups, research/interest group meetings, group projects, and an array of social activities.

Some of the topics covered in past SIPP programs include public attitudes and attitude change, race relations, conflict and dispute resolution, voting and elections, international conflict, decision-making, moral disengagement and violence, social networks, activism and social protest, political socialization, justice, and many more.

In 2019, SIPP will accept up to 60 participants, including graduate students, faculty, professionals, and advanced undergraduates. Please visit our website for more information and to find the application to attend: https://web.stanford.edu/group/sipp/cgi-bin/sipp/. Applicants are accepted on a rolling basis until all slots are filled, so applying soon maximizes chances of acceptance. Any questions should be directed to: 2019SIPP@gmail.com.

Prison University Project—Donations of Psych 1 textbooks

The Prison University Project at San Quentin is currently seeking donations of Psych 1 textbooks!

"The mission of the Prison University Project is to provide excellent higher education to people at San Quentin State Prison; to support increased access to higher education for incarcerated people; and to stimulate public awareness about higher education access and criminal justice."

If you have a current copy of the Psych 1 textbook, Introduction to Psychology (11th edition), by James W. Kalat, and you would like to donate it for use in this semester's PSYCH 221 Introduction to Psychology at San Quentin Prison, please email Mariel Goddu at goddu@berkeley.edu and use the subject line "Textbook Donation."

The current textbooks in the prison library are the 6th edition (!), from 2003. The instructors have informed the prison that this is unacceptable, as no college course in Psychology would use a textbook so terribly outdated. However, The Prison University Project does not have enough funding to purchase new textbooks at this time. Donating your textbook would help ensure that each one of our 25 students will have an up-to-date reference throughout the course.

Thank you for helping us in our mission to provide high-quality undergraduate level education in Psychology to incarcerated persons at San Quentin!

BLC Lecture: Experiencing Language and Social Justice in Times of Resistance, 2/5/19

Robert Train
Professor of Spanish, Sonoma State University

Attacking education has long been a staple food in the conservative political regimen of the “culture wars” in the US. However, the assault on higher education takes an increasingly troubling and openly violent texture in the Trump era, particularly for immigrants and Latinos. In this talk, I will examine impacts of Trumpian discourse on how we language educators may address structural and conceptual shifts around speaking, teaching, and learning languages in the United States as “world”, “native”, “second”, “foreign”, and “heritage” languages beyond and between English. I ask how the multiple war fronts against higher education, immigrants and Latinos impacts us as linguistic individuals (Johnstone, 1996, 2009), learners and teachers who bring to the classroom our diverse “lived experience of language”, or Spracherleben (Busch, 2017) as we co-participate in the ongoing shaping of experience both inside and outside the classroom. Drawing on recent work for a monograph on language education for Latinx learners (Martínez & Train, forthcoming), I will outline an ecologically complex and dynamic view of language experience at the intersections with discourse, identity, locality and mobility within and across multiple scales (global, national, institutional, community, familial, individual, affective and temporal). Language experience—woven into our human experience through languaging and translanguaging as we live in the world—offers educators working beyond English an ethical space in which to critically engage with the violence increasingly targeting our institutions, key constituencies of our students, and—in many cases—ourselves and our families.
